FRANCE.

THE ARMY VOTE.

PARIS, July 6.—The details of the army vote are coming in. The garrison of Lille gave 700, and only 10 for the Legitimists. The city of Calais gave 3,113 Republican against 800 monarchical votes. In various other places which have been heard from the Republicans are in the ascendant.

SOUND ADVICE.

General Besson, Commandant of the troops at Bordeaux, suggested to the troops before the election that as a Republic only could save the country, they had better vote for Republican candidates.

POLITICAL.

The people of Bordeaux have sent a petition to Cissey, asking to disavow the course pursued by Besson. The latest returns from the Department of the Seine elect Moreau to the Assembly, in place of Bonaulet, which increases the Republican delegation.

PALIKAO'S DENIAL.

Count Palikao published a denial of General Trochu's charges relative to the course pursued by the former. On the 4th of September, General Trochu in his three days' speech in the Assembly, said that when the news of the Sedan disaster arrived in Paris, Palikao said to him, "General, revolution is un fait accompli. If you don't take direction of affairs, it is all up with us; if you do, probably the result will be just the same." To this Trochu replied that his conduct was proper in all respects. Trochu, it will be recollected, also accused Palikao of acting unwisely in keeping Bazaine at Metz, and sending him reinforcements after he should have been recalled to Paris.

ANNOYED.

PARIS, July 6.—The Republican press are annoyed at the continuance of the state of siege in Paris, which they declare needless and oppressive.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

It is said that the first act of the Assembly, as soon as the newly elected Deputies have taken their seats, will be to prolong the power of Thiers as Chief Executive of the nation for two years.

PARIS LOAN.

PARIS, July 6.—A loan is to be raised by the municipality of Paris for the purpose of rebuilding the monuments destroyed during the siege.

HONORED.

Jules Ducratel, who became a traitor from the Communists to the Versaillists, has been accorded the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

M'MAHON.

Marshal McMahon has been reinstated in command at Versailles.

IN PARIS.

Duke Denemours and M. Shneider, formerly President of the Corps Legislatif, are in Paris.

ANOTHER ELECTION.

An election will be held on Sunday next to fill the vacancies in the Assembly where one person has been chosen by different constituencies.

DE JOINVILLE.

Prince De Joinville having declared for the Republic will undoubtedly succeed in the Department LaManche.

COMPLIMENTARY.

General Van Manteuffel and staff have paid a visit of ceremony to Thiers. The General afterwards dined with the President. Count Waldersee, Governor Charge D'Affairs and General Prince Waldemar of Holstien, were also invited.

TO FORBEAR.

Count Waldersee has informed the Foreign Office that Field Marshal Count Moltke has given orders to the German commanders in France to forbear from inflicting punishment upon offenders whom the French law can reach. Count Waldersee has complained to the Foreign Office of the bitter language used against Germany and Germans by the French newspapers. The Journal Official in making this statement advises other journals to exercise the utmost forbearance in allusions to the Germans.

COMMANDING THE ARMY.

A proposition is mooted entrusting to Marshall McMahon the command of the entire army, in order to give greater unity to the force which will soon amount to 300,000 men.

COURT MARTIAL.

The court martial for the trial of the Communists now under arrest will take up the cases in the following order: First, members of the Central Committtee, persons who have usurped the public functions, and last, those generally taking part in the insurrection. Rossell will be tried before a special tribunal.

ENGLAND.

NAPOLEON.

LONDON, July 6.—It is said that Napoleon will soon leave England for Geneva, and Eugenie will simultaneously pay a visit to her mother in Spain.

THE PRINCE IMPERIAL.

The Prince Imperial Frederick William, of Germany, is expected in London to-night.

DOUBLE MURDER.

An obscure man named DeLolland, has murdered Vonne, Mayor of the town of Sachie. The curate while bringing oil to anoint the body of the murdered man was also assassinated. Intense excitement prevails. Later announcements say DeLolland committed suicide.

WRECKED.

LONDON, July 6.—The steamer Gambia has been totally wrecked on Algoa bay. No details have been received.

CELEBRATION.

The Prince of Wales will attend the Waverly celebration in aid of the erection of a monument to Sir Walter Scott.

THE AMERICAN LOAN.

Assistant Secretary of the United States Treasury Richardson, who is in London, reports complete success in his negotiation for the sale of the new American five per cent. bonds.

OCEAN CABLES.

The Submarine Messenger, a journal devoted to the interests of deep sea telegraphing, says the Atlantic Cable Company have adopted an irritating course, which occasions great dissatisfaction and general protest in this country. The Government is anxious to increase the facilities of the press. From this fact the cable companies should take a lesson. The press, however, will protect itself, and the press and public are allies, and we must have an effective opposition. The Liverpool Chamber of Commerce has already set the ball going and the movement is spreading. The existing companies pay ten per cent. to their stockholders, with a growing business. Germany is looking out for a line, which the galled public is in the right temper to encourage.

THE TICHBORNE CASE.

[Special to the World.]

The jury in the Tichborne case privately informed the judge they were convinced that the plaintiff was an imposter and that they were ready to give a verdict to that effect without hearing a single witness for the defence. The judge refused to give his consent and the trial will proceed.

ARRIVED.

LONDON, July 6.—Frederick William, the Crown Prince of Prussia and Prince Imperial of Germany, accompanied by the Princess Victoria, arrived in London this evening and was received at the station by the Prince and Princess of Wales. The Crown Prince brings with him the Order of the Black Eagle, which he will confer on Count Bernstorff, the German Ambassador.

MEXICO.

THE ELECTIONS.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 30—via Havana, July 6.—Trustworthy information received here is that Juarez will have a majority over Leido and Diaz jointly, and that the choice of a President will not devolve upon Congress. The Juarezista will have a majority in Congress also. It is not deemed likely that any attempt will be made to inaugurate a revolution, but if the attempt is made there is confidence that the revolution begun would soon have an end. All parties were guilty of violence and fraud at the elections, and the Commission appointed by Congress has declared the election in the Capital illegal. However the people are very little concerned about the elections; politicians seem to be the only ones exercised about them. Reorganization of the Cabinet is expected in September.

BUSINESS.

The country is quiet and business dull, but mining is increasing, and the mines closed since the war with Spain, are again worked. The Spanish Minister was well received.

RAILROADS.

There is great dissatisfaction manifested about the Tehuantepec canal project, and the Californians who propose to build a railroad from Acapulco to the Capital and to run steamers from Guaymas to Ventora, demand liberal concessions. The Vera Cruz Railroad has reached Cordeva, and will be finished to the Capital by the end of the year.

FIRE.

HAVANA.

JOURNALISTIC.

HAVANA, June 6.—Liez Leon has renounced the directorship of the Voz De Cuba. Senor Triary will be his successor.

Gelpi formerly of the Prensa, will soon start a journal.

REPORTED ASHORE.

CHICAGO.

Shooting Affray.

CHICAGO, July 6.—At Elyria, Illinois, yesterday, two men named W. Herron and Jackson Davis, who were engaged in a law suit in regard to some land, met on Herron's farm. Herron ordered Davis off, when the latter drew a revolver and shot Herron, the ball entering the left breast. Three shots in all were fired, but only one took effect. Herron is seriously hurt, but it is thought not fatally.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT HERSELF.

At Salem, Marion county, Illinois, on Friday evening last Miss P. M. Wilkison, a highly respected young lady, accidentally shot herself with a revolver, inflicting a mortal wound. The following are the circumstances: Mr. Bohanan of St. Louis, a young gentleman to whom she was to be married the following day, arrived at her home. At her request he opened his trunk to show her his wedding suit. He passed out several articles for her inspection, and finally drew out a revolver which she also wished to examine. While doing so it was accidently discharged the ball entering between the ribs and ranging downward, penetrated the stomach. She lingered in great anguish for a few hours when she expired. Her affianced husband has been rendered partially insane by the sad accident and he is continually watched by friends, fearing that he will inflict personal injury upon himself.

MORTALLY WOUNDED.

At Grandville near Grand Rapids, Michigan, early yesterday morning, a well known and wealthy farmer aged about fifty years, named Oliver Cook, was shot and mortally wounded by a fellow named Harry Ward, who had just returned from a year's service in the State Penitentiary. Mr. Cook had just left the ball room of the Grandville Hotel, where he had been attending a dance, for the purpose of going home. When he reached the street he met Ward, who after a few words drew a revolver and discharged the contents of one barrel into Cook's neck. The effect of the bullet was to completely paralyze his limbs, and he now lies in a critical condition.

A BRUTE.

About one week since, Edward Titcomb residing at Maysville, DeKalb county, Missouri, while engaged in a violent controversy with his father about some hay, drew his revolver and discharged the contents of three barrels into the abdomen of the old gentleman. He then seized an axe and struck his sister who was standing near a fearful blow inflicting a dangerous wound. Neither will probably survive. Titcomb was at once arrested and it was only by the greatest efforts of the Sheriff that he was saved from lynching by the infuriated neighbors.

STORM.

A severe storm accompanied by lightning and high winds swept over Omaha and vicinity last evening. At Lone Tree, Nebraska, a house with four persons inside was struck by lightning and the inmates all killed. On the Fremont and Blair Railroad a train of cars was lifted from the track by the wind and landed twenty feet from the rail. A son, aged two years, of John McCleary, of West Point, was instantly killed and fifteen other persons were more or less hurt, the mail agent probably fatally.

COUNTERFEITERS.

The Government detectives who have recently discovered an extensive gang of makers and circulators of counterfeit money in Wisconsin, with their headquarters at Monroe, continue to make arrests. Yesterday they jugged two hotel keepers of Monroe and a farmer. Thus far about a dozen of the gang have been arrested and the detectives are still at work.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.

George W. Gray, at New Richmond, Clermont county, Ohio, being drunk on the Fourth, insulted some ladies publicly. A man named Joseph Houck interfered. A quarrel arose, and Houck shot Gray, killing him.

CHANGE OF VENUE.

Judge Pope of Warren Common Pleas today granted the motion for a change of venue to Montgomery county, in the case of Thomas McGehan, recently tried at Lebanon for the murder of Thomas Myers, at Hamilton.

DROWNED.

Martin Devine, a moulder, jumped into the river from a ferry boat and was drowned. He is supposed to have been laboring under an attack of delirium tremens.

James Henry Stauffer, plasterer, was also drowned in the Ohio river. Strong drink supposed to be the cause.

LITTLE ROCK.

The Tannerly Sensation.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 6.—The expose of Superintendent Tannerly of the Penitentiary by the Gazette this morning has created an immense sensation. It is understood he will reply in to-morrow's Republican, endeavoring to throw discredit on the officer making the statement.

SUNSTROKE.

A man named Stevens, connected with the Fort Smith Railroad, died this morning from the effects of sunstroke a few days ago.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

On Wednesday a mail carrier by the name of Jennings between this city and Danville was accidentally shot by a pistol falling from the seat to the bottom of the mail cart exploding and sending a ball into his body. The wound is considered fatal.

WARM.

Very warm to-day. The thermometer reached 93. The river is getting very low, only 18 inches of water is reported above, 30 inches below.

IOWA.

Terrible Storm.

SIOUX CITY, July 6.—A terrible rain and wind storm visited Western Iowa and Eastern Nebraska yesterday. Rain fell in torrents in this city, but the main force of the wind struck lower down the valley, prostrating telegraph lines, unroofing buildings, &c. Train No. 5 on the Nebraska division of the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad, when about two miles north of Scribner, Nebraska, was struck by the storm and the entire train excepting the engine, consisting of a coach, baggage, mail and way car was blown from the track. About twenty passengers were in the coach, all of whom were more or less injured none mortally. Conductor M. Lead had his shoulder broken. Mail messenger Whitemore was injured internally and it is thought he cannot recover. The mail car was blown a distance of two hundred feet from the track. A small engine house at Blair, was blown down and several houses unroofed.

LOUISVILLE.

Railroad Iron.

LOUISVILLE, July 9.—The board of directors of the Elizabethtown and Paducah Railroad have under consideration a proposition from L. H. Meyer, of New York city, who represents foreign iron firms, and offers to furnish all the iron needed to complete the unfinished portion of the road from Greenville to Paducah, ninety-two miles, taking the bonds of the company at 87½ per cent, with interest, in payment. Eighty-five thousand dollars will make the above portion ready for iron. All of it is under contract to be finished by April, 1872. The entire road is one hundred and ninety-five miles long.

John Morton, a son of a prominent and wealthy citizen, was to-day sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for killing Hiram Powers in a bawdy house in this city last May.

PHILADELPHIA.

Shot by a Room Mate.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Horace P. Robinson son of a Third street banker, was seriously wounded this morning by a pistol shot fired by his friend Harry W. Bartol. The two were sleeping together at the residence of the latter, Bartol having a pistol by his side. It is supposed that dreaming of burglars he arose and fired the shot in his sleep. At the antimortem examination Robertson exempted his friend from any murderous design.

DISSOLVE.

The Young Maennerchoir of this city has resolved to dissolve connection with the northern Saengerbund.

ST. PAUL.

Break in a Tunnel.

ST. PAUL, July 6.—Another break took place at the St. Anthony tunnel on Tuesday, which promised at one time to be serious. By Herculean efforts, however, a dam was built cutting off all the water from St. Anthony channel, in which the orifice existed, and it is hoped that present danger is at least averted. The mills on the St. Anthony are compelled to stop this morning by the water being withdrawn.

NEWARK.

The President.

NEWARK, N. J., July 6.—President Grant and General Porter arrived here to-day and are guests of Senator Frelinghuysen. Secretary Robeson and Judge Bradley of the Supreme Court are also here.

CABINET MEETING.

APPOINTMENTS.

The Assignment of Cadets.

WASHINGTON, July 6, 1871.

FREE OF DUTY.

The Acting Secretary of the Treasury has directed that articles from Canada intended for the International and Industrial Exhibition at Mechanics' Institute, Buffalo, (to be opened on the 28th of September and continue to October 14th. 1871), shall be entered and bonded for sixty days, that at the close of the Exhibition they may be returned to Canada without payment of duty.

KU KLUX.

The Ku Klux Committee still stays here, patiently working away, in hot weather, without any prospect for a termination of its labors appearing. Yesterday several leading citizens of Alabama and Mississippi arrived in this city to appear as witnesses.

The Committee to-day examined Judge Pettis and Colonel Pugh, of Alabama. Their testimony was corroborative of the evidence previously given by Governor Lindsay and others, that no such organization as Ku Klux exists in Alabama, and that good order prevails in that State. Colonel Pugh, at the outbreak of the war, was a member of Congress from Alabama, and was afterwards member of the Confederate Congress from the same State. J. M. Justice, Rutherford county, North Carolina, a prominent native and Republican member of the Legislature of the State, was examined prior to the examination of Pettis and Pugh, and gave very direct testimony in relation to affairs in his section. He testified that some five weeks ago a party of forty or fifty armed, disguised men came to his house, took him out of bed, and in the presence of his family beat him fearfully with clubs and pistols, then carried him into the woods, threatening his life, and made him promise not to come to Washington to testify to the committee concerning various outrages which had been committed in that vicinity. They then left him and he managed to get home, where he was confined to bed for three weeks from the effects and from internal injuries caused by the beating. He swore he believed that this and similar outrages were part of a regular system of political intimidation, and were not merely neighborhood quarrels. He believed firmly in the existence of Ku-klux in North Carolina.

THE WEATHER.

The area of low pressure which was on Wednesday evening in Iowa has moved over Lake Michigan and now covers Lake Huron. Threatening weather with light rains have accompanied its advance, and now prevail in New York and Pennsylvania. The barometer has varied somewhat on South Atlantic and Gulf coasts, and continues highest from North Carolina to Key West, with fresh winds from the South. Rain was reported this morning from Georgia and Alabama, and clearing up weather from Kentucky to Lake Superior and westward. The barometer has fallen quite rapidly in the Middle and Eastern States since this morning, with increasing southeasterly winds.

Probabilities.—Southeasterly winds will probably continue in the Southern and Gulf States, with northwesterly winds in the interior on Friday afternoon. The barometer will probably continue to fall to-night in New York, with brisk southeasterly winds on the East Atlantic coast for a short time, with rainy and threatening weather clearing away on Friday. Partially cloudy and clear weather for Friday west of Michigan and Tennessee, and brisk southwestern winds for to-night on Lakes Ontario and Erie.

CADET ASSIGNMENTS.

HORSE CLAIMS.

Second Comptroller Broadhead decided that the repeal by the act of July 12th, 1870, of the indefinite appropriation in the act of March 3, 1849 to pay for horses, mules, etc., lost or destroyed during the war in military service does not prevent action at the treasury upon this class of claims. There are no legal objections to entering those claims. The auditor can report the case as usual to the Comptroller, and if approved, the sum allowed stands as adjudicial claim to be paid when Congress makes the necessary appropriation.

CABINET MEETING.

The President sends word that he will be here on the 11th to hold a Cabinet meeting. This will probably be the last one held prior to his new departure from Long Branch for the Pacific coast. It is expected that at this meeting the appointments under the new treaty with Great Britain will be determined and soon after announced.

APPOINTMENTS.

The Postmaster General to-day appointed Abraham Eikeman Postmaster at Warrenton, Missouri, vice H. Middlekiaup removed and J. S. Holmes Postmaster at Grand Ledge, Michigan, vice James A. Meknam, resigned.

General Spinner will leave Europe on the 28th inst. for this country.

MEMPHIS.

Ku-Klux Trials.

MEMPHIS, July 6.—An Oxford special to the Avalanche, last evening, says that in the Ku-Klux cases the closing argument of the defense was resumed by Col. Dowd. The said indictment was the murder of citizens of Mississippi by the citizens of the State. He argued that their power to determine a cause of that character was given by the people of the State Government before the formation of the Constitution of the United States, and said the first count in the indictment charging the defendants with murder by conspiracy, and in disguise, was founded on a prohibition of the powers of the United States and not in the grant of power to the government. The second count is founded on the Civil Rights bill, and the Enforcement Act. He contended that the indictment on the prohibitory power in the Constitution was absurd, and said the whole legislation of Congress on the Civil Rights bill, and Enforcement Act directed protection to citizens of the United States. Judge Hills held that life and liberty among communities was intended to be secured under the amended constitution and where two or more persons conspire together for the deprivation of citizens of the United States, it was in violation of the Enforcement Act. Ten prisoners were bailed, and the others are without. Col. Lamar's name was restored to the roll of the court, on motion of the District Attorney.

The Avalanche's Oxford special says the June term of the United States District Court of the northern district of Mississippi closed to-day, during the term the Grand Jury returned forty-five true bills under the enforcement act embracing over three hundred persons for whipping, frightening and murdering white men and negroes.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

General Frederico Cavoda, who succeeded General Jordan as Commander-in-Chief of the Cuban army, was captured by the Spaniards a few days ago, and before this has probably been murdered. A correspondent says that the Cuban cause is growing weaker, in consequence of the patriotic discusssions of the leaders, but at the same time the Spanish troops are being fully decimated by disease.

A stay of proceedings has been granted in the case of Foster by Judge Pratt of Brooklyn. The writ of error is made returnable November 6th. Governor Hoffman on application of Judge Stuart has appointed next Monday to hear prayer and argument for commutation of Foster's sentence to imprisonment for life. In case the Governor decides to commute Foster's sentence, all further legal proceedings will be at once suspended.

MEXICAN BONDS.

Late foreign advices state that the English holders of Mexican bonds have issued a protest against the mortgage on a part of the revenues of the republic, which the Mexican Railway Company offers as security for a loan of $5,000,000, which it is raising in England. The bondholders aver that they have a prior claim, as already telegraphed.

MEXICAN ELECTIONS.

Telegraphic advices from the city of Mexico indicate, without clearly announcing the fact, that Benito Juarez has been elected President of the Republic of Mexico. Diaz Cones was second to Juarez in the vote so far as heard from, and Lerdo de Tejada, the third candidate, was utterly defeated.

NEW PIER.

The Dock Commissioners this afternoon decided to begin at once the construction of a new pier, five hundred feet long by sixty wide, at the foot of Fifty-seventh street, East river. The work will be under the supervision of General McClellan, and will be the first pier under the new system.

ST. LOUIS.

National Police Convention.

ST. LOUIS, July 6.—Captain McDonough, Chief of Police of this city, has left for Washington on matters connected with the National Police Convention to be held in this city next fall. It is the intention of Captain McDonough to consult with Secretary Fish, and through him to open up a communication with foreign countries in regard to reformatory systems. He will then visit Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Albany, Boston, Providence, New Haven, Buffalo and Cleveland, stopping at all the large towns on the way. Then to Chicago, Indianapolis, Louisville, Nashville, Memphis, New Orleans and Mobile. At these places he will confer with the heads of police departments, and prepare the way for a successful conference of Captains of Police and Mayors of the principal cities on the continent. Captain Thomas O'Neil will act as Chief of Police during Captain McDonough's absence.

SUSPECTED MURDER.

The dead body of John O'Brien was found yesterday near Keightley's station, on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad. An examination showed that he had been murdered, fourteen wounds having been found on him. Two Irishmen, who left Sedalia, Missouri, with O'Brien on Friday have been arrested on suspicion of having committed the deed. All the parties had been drinking freely when last seen.

MURDERED.

Harry Blow, a nephew of Henry T. Blow, late United States Minister to Brazil, was murdered at Grantley, Newton county, Mo., last Tuesday. It appears a number of young men having a grudge against Blow visited his house Tuesday morning and assailed it with stones. Blow seized a double-barrel shot gun, and while opening the door of his house was shot in the region of the heart. The murderer is still at large.

AN ERROR.

The report of the murder of Harry T. Blow at Granby, Missouri, on the Fourth proves to be a mistake. A dispatch from Granby states it was Scott Dunlap, a saloon keeper, who was killed, Albert Krey being the murderer. Young Blew was in no way connected with the affair.

A DENIAL.

General Shepard, Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of this State will publish a card to-morrow in reply to a paragraph in the Washington Chronicle of July the third, in which he flatly denies ever having taken any action whatever against General Smith, Postmaster of this city or against Supervisor McDonald, or having asked President Grant directly or indirectly to remove either. He further states that his recent visit to Washington was in no way connected with St. Louis officials.

CONNECTICUT.

Alleged Poisoner.

BIRMINGHAM, CONN., July 6.—Public sentiment here is setting in strongly against Mrs. Sherman, the alleged poisoner of three husbands and two children. A correspondent who visited her was cordially received, but she positively declined, through the advice of her counsel, to refer to the case in any manner, as the examination before Justice Platt was set for to-day. She is about forty-five years of age, a brunette, converses fluently and is remarkably emotional in her intercourse with visitors. If guilty she is a strange being. The train yesterday brought the mother-in-law of Sherman and Cornelius W. Struck, a son by previous marriage of Mrs. Sherman's first husband, and Edward M. Struek, formerly a policeman in the thirty-second precinct.

THE PRAYER CURE.

An Old Means of Healing Revived—Its Practical and Successful Applications.

Quite possibly our readers have never heard of the institution of which we are about to speak, though the mode of treatment is quite ancient. The water cure has its numerous establishments in all parts of the world. The movement cure has also become famous in many countries. There is in Europe at least one institution where the patients take the delightful prescription of the grape cure. But few have heard of the localities and methods of the prayer cure. The original prescription may be found in a very small book written in Greek and published 1,800 years since, by an author named James, who said: "Is any sick among you? Let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord; and the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins they shall be forgiven him." This was practised upon, with great success, for no one knows how many years. It gradually fell out of use, but why, the historians have never been able to tell us. Some have thought it was because the faith unnecessarily failed, and others have insisted that it was because the foundations were removed on which the faith had rested.

Be that as it may, there is now in Switzerland on the banks of Lake Zurich in the little village of Mannedorf, an institution for the healing of the sick on this ancient Christian plan. Like other things involving unaccustomed methods and results, it grew rather than was made. A young woman named Dorothea Trudel established it, not as it were, for set purposes, but through singular and gradual leadings of Divine Providence. Her mother was a pious woman of remarkable faith, and had successfully encountered all life's many trials and difficulties, including sickness among the children, by resort to simple prayer. Years after the mother's death, when Dorothea was 37 years of age, living a very humble life and supporting herself by making artificial flowers, several of the girls she employed became dangerously ill. Medical help giving no relief, and then death appearing imminent, she suddenly thought her of the words of James, as the doctors acknowledged that they could do no more, she determined to carry the case, as of old, to Jesus. She did so, and they all recovered. The report of the fact spread, and other sick persons came to her, or sent to her, especially during a kind of epidemic which broke out, and the results were often very striking. She was solicited to set up an institution to which the sick might resort for treatment, but for a time declined so to do, preferring to continue in her original calling, particularly as she was of a timid, modest disposition. But so many patients thronged her doors, that she was compelled to take them in, if only from compassion, as often they were poor and had come from a distance. When her house overflowed she bought a second and then a third, and her days were spent in the superintendence of the patients and in prayer. The patients were from Switzerland, Germany, France, and even from Great Britain. Over a hundred have been there at one time!

The process in use was simple and spiritual. A short Bible service was held for all, three times a day, besides exercises with individuals, it being the first aim to impress the heart, and to secure a genuine faith in Christ. Conversions were sought and gained in great numbers. Prayers were made for each, hands were laid on them, and they were annointed with oil. No other means were used. No medicine was given. No stress was laid on the annointing or laying on of hands; they were used only because mentioned by James. No assurance was held out of an infallible or of an immediate cure. It was not taught that death was needless, or that all diseases might be removed; but only that while God still kept us under sentence of bodily death, and had his use for illness, He was pleased very frequently to heal the disease simply in answer to prayer, and that in this matter the spiritual condition often had much to do, for various reasons, with the fact and rapidity of the recovery.

But how do we know that the alleged facts occurred? We might refer to the investigations and reports made by physicians, clergymen, and other travellers who visited the place, including such names as Professor Tholuck and Bishop Kapff; but a better attestation has been afforded. The neighboring physicians became incensed, and brought Miss Tindel before the civil courts for violating the law respecting the practice of medicine without a license. She was condemned to pay a fine of $20 and costs. An appeal was taken from court to court, until the highest tribunal reversed the decision in 1861, and ordered that she should not be hindered in her good work. On the trial it was proved that the poor were lodged, boarded and nursed without pay, and the rich for just enough to cover the expenses of their board; that the complaining physicians had made no investigations whatever into the facts; that she used no medicines, and professed to know nothing about diseases, but to rely wholly on the power of Christ to heal the sick, secured by earnest prayer. Testimonials from the most eminent men in Switzerland and Germany were produced in her favor. Her whole life and history were investigated, and not a shadow lay upon her character; all testified to her piety and self-denying benevolence. No evil effects could be proved in the case of a single patient, while hundreds of remarkable cures were attested, including cases of consumption, cancer, lameness, epilepsy, insanity, and fearful injuries pronounced hopeless by the physicians. One of the leading physicians of Wurtemburg testified to the cure of a hopeless patient of his own, and another said he remained there six weeks and saw all kinds of sickness healed. At the last, the lawyers for the plaintiffs admitted the truth of all that was claimed, but insisted that some restraint should be laid on the crowding of so many sick persons to one place! Miss Trudel died September 5, 1862, but the institution continues under the charge of Mr. Samuel Zeller, the brother-in-law of Bishop Gobat, of Jerusalem, with similar results.

ONE of the victims to small-pox in our city was invited by a friend to take a glass of Pier, Dannals & Co.'s cream ale. He refused, but drank a glass of ice water instead, and shortly afterward went to the bed from which he never arose.

SCIENTIFIC.

THE mean depth of the North Atlantic Ocean, which is stated by Maury to be 12,500 feet, has been reduced by more elaborate soundings to 9,900 feet, and it is probable, according to Keith Johnson, Jr., the geographer, that this average depth is even greater than will be verified by future measurements.

No species of tortoise, it appears, is known to occur within the boundaries of the South American Republic of Chili. The director of the National Museum at Santiago, the capital of that country, has written to the secretary of the London Zoological Society, stating that the specimens of the so-called Chilian tortoise had come, in reality, from the Argentine Republic.

THE ancient method of medical treatment known as acupuncture, or puncture with needles, although it has generally gone out of use, is retained at the Leed's Infirmary, in England, where it is said to be very successfully applied for the relief of pain in certain kinds of neuralgia, and for the cure of muscular debility, such as arises from the bruising, stretching or tearing of a muscle or tendon.

THE discovery of existing glaciers in northern California leads the Academy to remark that the Alpine club may now seek new laurels in the Rocky mountains. The glacier discovered by Mr. Clarence King, near Mount Shasta, in September last, is 4,008 feet wide, and more than three miles long; but there is one still larger on Mount Rainer, in Washington Territory, five miles broad on the mountain and ten miles in length.

THE supposition that the destruction of forests reduces the annual fall of rain in a country is characterized as a fallacy by Dr. Peschel, an able German writer on comparative geography. His dissent from the ordinary view is worthy of remark; but as the theory which he opposes is regarded as sound by a large majority of those best qualified to judge upon the subject, we are disposed to think his opinion the result of hasty generalization rather than careful study.

DR. S. WEIR MITCHELL says that he has observed in several cases of palsy that the nails of the limbs of the affected side cease, on the occurrence of the accident, to grow. This he assured himself by staining the nails at the roots with nitric acid. He was able to predict, on seeing, after a time, a white line of nail making its appearance, and before there were any other signs of improvement, that power was about to return to the limb.

A QUEER request has been made of the Government of the United States of Colombia, South America, by the secretary of the Smithsonian institute. He wants a collection of the skulls of the Indians of that country, ancient and modern. Nature suggests that some difficulty may be experienced in persuading the Indians to hand over a pair of recent male and female skulls; and that some of the tribes are more likely to place the skulls of the government officers, or their emissaries in their own local museums.

Botanical gardens, or collections of living plants, are of much older date than zoological museums or collections of living animals. That of the medical school attached to the University of Padua, Italy, was established nearly three hundred and fifty years ago; and the oldest one in England, at Oxford, dates from 1632, the year in which Harvard College was founded. But little advance has been made of late years in the botanical gardens on the continent of Europe. Mr. Bentham, President of the Linnean Society, London—named after the great naturalist Linnæus—says, in his late anniversary address, that those which he first visited in 1830, appeared to him but little improved when he again went over them in 1869.

Few persons are aware that the appearances of rays around a star or any distant point of light have no existence in themselves, and differ in their arrangement in the eyes of each spectator. Dr. Brudenell Carter, in the Practitioner, says that at the last total eclipse of the sun many careful observers in different parts of the world were employed in making accurate drawings of the appearances of the corona or halo of light which surrounds the moon during a total eclipse of the sun, and afterward wondering at the differences which these drawings presented; not at all knowing—although they were men of no little scientific culture—that that the pictures did not represent an external object, but principally certain fibres in the crystalline lens of the eye of each individual who made them.

CUNDURANGO, the new remedy for cancer, recently sent from Ecuador to the United States Department of State, for examination, is reported to be entirely inefficacious. The remedy used is a decoction of the wood of the Cundurango tree, which is brought to this country in small bundles. Careful analysis, it is asserted, shows no unusual properties in the wood, and the fluid, when prepared for use, is perfectly harmless. The bark contains an insoluable gum, but no recognized medicinal principle. The wood and the bark have been subjected to minute examination by the medical authorities in Washington, who, it is said, have pronounced them utterly worthless. Patients afflicted with cancer have also been placed under treatment with cundurango, and a record of their condition, it is said, shows that no benefit is derived from this alleged remedy.

PROFESSOR GEORGE F. BARKER communicates to us the following statement: "A set of upper teeth was brought to me from a neighboring town, the other day, for examination. They were mounted on a metal plate, and had been worn in the mouth since May last. The person's health had been excellent up to that time; but within a month or two thereafter it began to fail, until now the person is confined to bed. Upon analysis, the metal plate was found to be essentially block-tin, but it contained lead in quite considerable amount. It was quite rough upon the surface, and appeared considerably corroded. I should mention that the physician in attendance pronounced the disease abcess of the liver; but thinking the plate might have had something, directly or indirectly, to do with the illness, he desired to have it examined. I am persuaded that the case is one of lead-poisoning; and yet I never knew before that teeth were mounted on block-tin."—American Chemist.

THE Glasgow Herald reports a remarkable operation which has been performed on the jaw of a vigorous, full-grown lion, in Mander's menagerie, in that city. A tooth had been injured by a blow inflicted by a man named Maccomb, when the animal threatened to attack him. Gradually the lion became very low spirited, eating his food with great difficulty, and when, at length, a gentleman who stands high in the medical profession in Glasgow volunteered to subject the lion to a surgical operation, provided the animal could be properly secured, the offer was accepted. On Wednesday the fore paws of the lion were caught and bound to the bars of the cage with strong ropes. Afterwards the head was lassoed, and ropes were fastened around the animals neck in such a manner as to prevent, as far as possible, the movement of the head, and to force the mouth close against the bars. When the lion was somewhat exhausted by struggles to free himself, the doctor mounted on a tub in front of the cage. A piece of wood was placed to the lion's mouth, and at once the beast made a snap. Then a pitch-fork was held up, and placed in the mouth, kept it open, while the inside was thoroughly washed. Afterward the doctor pushing his arm between the bars into the lion's mouth, and running his hand over his teeth, found the loose grinder. A terrible encounter ensued. The lion plunged more vigorously and howled more frightfully than ever, tossed his head from side to side, and at times forced his hinder as well as his front paws against the bars. But ultimately the doctor triumphed over the difficulties and dangers, and by means of powerful forceps extracted the loose tooth, which was found broken and diseased near the root. When the task had been completed the lion sank down completely exhausted, and while he lay steady and quiet the doctor cut the flesh over the jaw bone, severely injured, if not broken. It was, however, deemed expedient to subject the beast to another operation, and the excision of the injured bone has accordingly been postponed. The latest bulletins announce that the patient is making satisfactory progress, and tea and claret have been prescribed. Altogether the operation occupied an hour and a half.

Lot on the Park,
CORNER OF
WESTERN AND IRWIN AVENUES, AT AUCTION.
On MONDAY EVENING, July 10, at 8 o'clock, will be sold at A. Leggate's Real Estate and Stock Exchange, 159 Federal street, Allegheny, that fine lot on the south-west corner of Irwin and Western avenues, fronting 25 feet on Irwin and 198 feet on Western avenue, having a 20 feet alley in rear. The character of these two avenues is too well known to require commendation. The eligibility of the corner position for building purposes, dwelling or business, is worthy of special consideration. For some businesses—first-class family grocery, for instance—this position is unexcelled. The great depth of the lot will admit of two buildings. The first-class character of all the contiguous buildings render this a most desirable site for a first-class dwelling-house. Special attention is directed to this sale, as such desirable lots fronting on the Park are now exceedingly scarce. Terms at sale.

MEMBERS of the Democratic party are in a serious dilemma. They can take the new departure, or they can refuse to take it. They don't care a baubee for the principle of the thing; expediency is what they are after. Doubtless they agree with Erasmus when he said: "E duobus malis minimum eligendum." But the question is, which?

How happy could they be with either
Wher t'other dear charmer away.

THE New York World says:

"The Democratic party has done all in its power to make it easy for the Republicans to take a new departure."

The Republican party has done nothing of which it is ashamed, and of course has no necessity to take any departure from its honored principles.

Like the fox in the fable, the World would like to see Republicans do something to make the Departure business fashionable.

THE Philadelphia Sunday Mercury, arguing that the Negro Suffrage resolution of the Pennsylvania Democratic Convention was a mistake, says:

"We give Mr. Lewis C. Cassidy and his comrades in that mean, lying, humiliating dirty business, the discredit of having passed a resolution which will in other States at least prove a double-edged sword. It will cut two ways. It will not only disgust and drive off many Democrats, but prevent thousands of honest and independent Conservatives from voting with a party that has forged a lie to win an election."

The Mercury is a staunch Democratic paper, and its expression of disgust for the "new departure" is but one of many we see in Democratic prints.

THE World says:

"When the South surrendered, it was entitled to fair quarter."

"No moral taint attaches to their (the rebels) political mistake."

In the name of common sense did they not receive "fair quarter" for their "political mistake?" If some of the leaders had been quartered, it might have had a wholesome effect on the erring sisters, and tended to prevent such "political mistakes" hereafter. Further it says, "They were true, throughout, to the fundamental principles of our Republican government."

Well, we are prepared for all most anything now, from the Democracy, and firmly believe that the World, and those who think with it, would hail Jeff Davis as their candidate for the Presidency.

THE Post is preparing its readers for an overwhelming defeat in Kentucky on the first Monday of August next. It says the Democratic majority will be reduced about forty thousand at the State election, but that will "signify nothing." Of course not. Forty thousand votes is only a drop in the bucket. But it is to be remembered that the Democrats have had control of the State finances in Kentucky for the past five or six years, and that they are not now in a healthy condition. The sinking fund has been robbed, and the treasury is empty. These things "signify" something. They are producing a healthy reaction in Kentucky, and the Post expects the Democratic majority will be reduced forty thousand. This will about give the State to the Republicans, and we are glad to have such good authority as the Post for stating that the majority will be reduced so largely.

THE indications are that the supplemental elections held in France on last Sunday resulted in a triumph for the Thiers' government. Many of those who were elected to the Assembly, however, are personal friends of Thiers, and have no well-defined republican principles. It appears that a portion of the army did vote. Great indignation is expressed by the people of Bordeaux at the conduct of General Besson, commandant of the troops at that place, because he urged the soldiers to vote for the Republican candidates, assigning as a reason that nothing but a Republican form of government could save the country. There is nothing more certain than that a large portion of the French army is tinged with Imperialism. If the form of government were left to the election of the troops, we believe they would declare, by a large majority, in favor of a restoration of the Empire.

SINCE General Jackson died the Pittsburgh Post has had but negative principles. It is violently, not to say virulently, opposed to everything which is. Yesterday, in speaking of a proposed trip of President Grant to the borough of Washington, it says: "Those having presents should during the next few days address them to Washington, Pa." Coming from such a source, this advice might appear singular, did we not remember that Gen. Jackson was constantly receiving presents, and that, to the Post, whatever he did was right. In looking over an old file of papers for 1828, we found two mentions of presents sent to Jackson from this neighborhood—a pair of military boots and a gigantic cheese. But things are not as they were, and, painful as it is to us, we feel it to be our duty to inform the Post that General Jackson is dead. He really is. Be calm, and restrain your feelings, oh, neighbor! The blow is a heavy one, but you have the pity of everybody, and time may assuage your grief.

OUR Democratic neighbor squeezes a tear or two from the eyes of its pet crocodile over the sadly mixed "Radical situation in Ohio." Let us examine: General Noyes was unanimously chosen by the Republican Convention at Columbus and that choice has been enthusiastically ratified in all parts of the State. Look here, upon this picture, neighbor, and on this: General (?) McCook was announced to be the choice of the Democratic Convention, but, after it was too late to withdraw his name, it was discovered that he was not even the choice of the majority of the Convention, that General Ewing really had a majority of the votes and should have been declared the nominee had he not been cheated out of his rights. Is it any wonder that the many friends of the man from whom this empty honor was stolen, vow vengeance? We confess we look to see the regular Republican majority in Ohio so increased this year that the men who engineered McCook into his present false position cannot fail to recognize the implied rebuke.

LEATHER AND TARIFF.

The free-trade organs are making a great ado over the recent manifesto of some of the "boss" shoe manufacturers of New England. In their pronunciamento they say that "the legislation of other countries has aimed to secure for manufacturers and artisans the raw material of their industry at the cheapest possible rates." This we think the legislation of Congress has done. Revenues must be derived from some source to pay the interest on the national debt and carry on the affairs of the government, and, judging from the amount of profit realized by the shoe manufacturers on their industry, we think there are no men in the country better able to contribute to these objects than they are. They set forth that "of late years there has been an increase of twenty-five per cent. in the productive power of a given amount of capital and labor engaged in our (their) manufactures through improved machinery and new processes." After this admission we should expect to get our boots and shoes at greatly reduced rates. But we know that this is not the case. The manufacturers, notwithstanding they admit that recent inventions of machinery enable them to make boots and shoes twenty-five per cent. cheaper than formerly, are charging the wearer the same prices they did before. If they had a living profit, before the invention of improved machinery and new processes, on their manufactures, it must be enormous now.

It is of the duty on raw hides they most complain. They have no objection to a heavy tariff on tanned hides and manufactured wares. But they should not complain here. The tariff on raw hides and skins is only ten per cent., whilst that on leather and tanned skins and hides is, ad valorem, from 20 to 35 per cent., and on boots and shoes 35 per cent. Here then is protection that should satisfy the manufacturers. We have tanning material in greater abundance in the United States than they have in Europe, and at a much cheaper rate. This enables us to manufacture leather at a much less cost than they can do there. Where then is there any ground for complaint, when the tax on the raw material is only ten per cent., whilst that on tanned hides and skins is from 20 to 35 per cent., and on boots and shoes 35 per cent.? Here is a margin wide enough for a handsome profit, and there is no better argument that can be adduced in favor of the present law on the subject than that the shoe manufacturers are all becoming wealthy, and new manufacturing firms are being constantly established.

Moreover, they admit in their manifesto that the facilities and advantages possessed by Americans for the manufacture of leather are such as "enable them to undersell all competing nations," and yet they are not satisfied that they have to pay a tax of ten per cent. on the raw material!

The Shoe and Leather Reporter, which should understand this matter, says that the manifesto of the manufacturers "is in its way rather a remarkable document," and bears many evidences of having been prepared by the Free Trade League, "who are more anxious to push the theory of free trade, as against the policy of protection, than to confer such practical benefit upon the whole country as may be derived by a judicious modification of the present tariff." The Reporter notices the significant fact that "the names of many of the representative houses in the trade in New England, where the document was circulated, do not appear among the list of signers," and then goes on to "remind the boot and shoe manufacturers, or rather, the supposed friends of the boot and shoe manufacturers," that they "are not so entirely free from the danger of foreign competition as many of them suppose," and that the only thing that prevents them from being undersold is "the objections our people have to English styles." It is evident, according to their own showing that the business of the boot and shoe manufacturers flourishes greatly under the present law. It cannot certainly be their desire that the tariff should be taken off tanned hides, and boots and shoes. In that event the wearer might buy these articles cheaper, but where would be the occupation of the Crispins, and the industry of tanners? The leading houses in New England understand this matter perfectly well, and refused to attach their signatures to the "pro....." They are well aware that the present system gives them ample protection, and are unwilling to sacrifice their interests by playing into the hands of the Free Trade League.

THE VICE PRESIDENT AND SOMETHING ELSE.

Since appending an editorial note to a few clippings, which will be found in another place, we have received a copy of the Harrisburg Telegraph, containing the following, which seems to be of a semi-official character, and the sentiments of which we cordially endorse:

"By the authority of Senator Cameron, and at his request, we are called on to announce his oppinion as to candidates in the coming Presidential contest; and to further assure those who value his opinions in political affairs that the injudicious agitation of the subject of candidates at this time forces him to break a silence which should have continued until the campaign now in progress in Pennsylvania had been ended. He is not, and will not be a candidate for the Vice Presidency under any circumstances. Nor does he attach the slightest importance to that subject. But on the Presidential nominee his convictions are matured and strong.

He desires the renomination and re election of President Grant for many weighty reasons, believing him to be the very man of all men, to bring the country out of its financial and political complications. His management of the revenues has been magnificent. The steady payment of the national debt has been the crowning achievement not alone of his administration, but of practical financiering. The amicable adjustment of our foreign relations—and particularly the negotiation of the Treaty of Washington—gives evidence of the highest order of statesmanship. His devotion to the cause of American labor is sturdy and sincere. The anxiety he constantly shows to find the true relations between commerce and manufactures, and his honest desire to forward the interests of both commend him alike to the producers and exchangers of industrial wealth. And his inflexible determination to enforce the laws makes him a perfect officer in all respects.

Honest, capable, straightforward, inflexible, and brave, he combines all the elements of power through which alone the South can be restored to peace, order and prosperity. That part of our country requires nothing so much at this time as a clear conviction that the laws of the land are to be either loyally obeyed or mercilessly enforced. They must learn that the right of a Northern, Eastern or Western man is as complete in the South as anywhere else; and that the absolute freedom of political discussion and action in every part of this country is the dearest of all those rights which the war for the Union settled. There can be no peace until the South yields this point; and under Grant they will learn it soonest. He can neither be wheedled or bullied. And for this reason he is the best President for that turbulent section.

These reasons, among otherr, control the judgment of Senator Cameron, and he is so anxious that Grant should be re-elected that he looks with chagrin on any and all matters which shall divert the attention of the people from that subject. Pennsylvania will do her duty in the future as in the past, and will find her recompense in her devotion to civil liberty, and the great Captain under whom civil liberty is so well maintained.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

The Department of Agriculture—Hon. Horace Capron—The New Commissioner—Hon. Frederick Watts, etc., etc.

[Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 3, 1871.

Recent events have attracted public attention to this important branch of the general government. Gen. Horace Capron, of Illinois, who has so successfully administered the affairs of the department for the last four years, has resigned his office as commissioner, to take effect August 1st, and the President has appointed Hon. Frederick Watts of Carlisle, Pennsylvania, in his stead. While the country will regret to lose the services of General Capron, it will learn with gratification that Judge Watts will prove a worthy successor, and will faithfully and intelligently labor for the advancement of the great interest which the Government so long neglected, but which it is now so liberally caring for. But Pennsylvanians will be gratified with the appointment of Judge Watts for other reasons than those which relate to his fitness for the office and the good he will certainly accomplish. While immediately after his inauguration, the President honored Pennsylvania with the selection of Mr. Borie as Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Allison as Register of the Treasury, and Ex-Governor Curtin as Minister to St. Petersburg, and subsequently accredited another distinguished citizen, Wayne McVeigh as Minister to Constantinople, nevertheless, in consequence of Mr. Borie's early retirement, the Republicans of our State have for a long time felt that, in the distribution of political honors, they had not been sufficiently recognized by the Administration. Owing to its staunch adherence to Republican principles, and its weight in the Electoral College, they have justly held that the State was entitled to a seat in the Cabinet or some other position of equal rank in the Government. This view has been entertained by Senators Cameron and Scott, and to their earnest representations, and the President's sense of justice and propriety is the selection of judge Watts due. The Commissioner of Agriculture, it is true, has no vote or place in Cabinet meetings, but his position at Washington is equal in honor and responsibility, if not in emoluments to that of any one of a majority of Cabinet officers.

The conspicuous services rendered to agriculture by General Capron justify more than a passing notice of the man. He was born in the State of New York about sixty-five years ago, of Revolutionary parentage, his father, Dr. Seth Capron, having served with distinction as an officer under Washington. The son was carefully educated, and when but a youth devoted his energies to cotton manufacture, a branch of business which he pursued for many years with zeal and success. His last enterprise in this line was at Laurel, Maryland, where he engaged on a large scale in the manufacture of cotton cloth and cotton machinery, the roll of his employees numbering nine hundred. It was here, about 1840, as the owner of twelve hundred acres of exhausted land, that Mr. Capron's attention was prominently directed to agricultural pursuits. When this tract came into his possession, it was assessed at seven dollars an acre, and when he sold it in 1847 its productiveness had so increased, in consequence of the superior culture it had received, that its assessed valuation was sixty dollars an acre. Stock-growing was a specialty with him, and there were no finer cattle in Maryland than those which trod his pastures, and no finer horses than his favorite stallion "Maiden Messenger." General Taylor, when President, once spent several days on this model farm, enjoying the hospitality of its owner and appreciating the energy and skill that had transformed an unproductive waste into a rare prospect of rural attractiveness. While engaged in his extensive operations at Laurel, Mr. Capron found time to contribute frequently to the agricultural press, and to organize a company of cavalry which excelled all of the military organizations in the State in the perfection of its drill and the elegance of its equipments.

In 1850 the Laurel farm and other property were sold; in 1851 Mr. Capron was appointed by the Governor of Maryland a Commissioner to the World's Fair at London; and in 1854 he emigrated to Illinois and engaged in breaking up and improving a prairie farm, which he brought to a high state of productiveness. His herd of Devon cattle obtained an extended reputation, and individual members of it won several prizes at State fairs. In 1862 he recruited the fourteenth regiment of Illinois cavalry, and entered the army as its Colonel, continuing at its head until the close of the struggle, when he was breveted Brigadier-General for distinguished services in the field. He was with Burnside at Knoxville, Stoneman in his Georgia raid, Judah in his pursuit of Morgan, and Sherman at Atlanta. In a night charge against Hood at the battle of Franklin, he was wounded. All his sons, four in number, were in the army, and his oldest son, Lieutenant Horace Capron, was killed at the head of his command.

In 1867 General Capron was appointed Commissioner of Agriculture, and for four years he has worked with untiring energy, excellent judgment and remarkable enthusiasm in the discharge of his responsible duties. We need not particularize all of the labors he has performed, for the country is already familiar with them. His public addresses on agricultural topics have been terse, practical, up with the times and thoroughly American. He has greatly widened the area of usefulness of the Department by judicious selections of new seeds for distribution, especially of wheat and oats; by the introduction of new textiles, medical plants, dyes, &c.; and by the exquisite taste displayed in the decoration of the Department building and surrounding grounds which the patriotic pride of every visitor has been gratified and his love of the beautiful in nature and art has been stimulated. Government has done but little to educate the public taste, but General Capron has done much. Nor will the uniform courtesy with which he always received his visitors, and the grace with which he complied with every reasonable request, soon be forgotten. He retires from his high office with a reputation for honesty, efficiency and genuine manliness which well crowns a life of earnest and blameless endeavor, and which will long make his name a household word in the homes of progressive American farmers.

General Capron goes to another field of usefulness, one for which his talents and experience peculiarly fit him. He has been summoned to the Empire of Japan, to introduce into that far away region a knowledge of American methods of agriculture and other industrial achievements of our progressive civilization, including railroads and railroad machinery. This mission is one of vast importance, and it cannot fail to result in many and enduring benefits to the people of Japan, and reciprocally to the people of this country. The Japanese will learn the arts that have made us a mighty nation in a single century, and this will lead to a demand for the products of our mines, manufactories and farms. Imagination cannot picture the magnificent results which this mission of General Capron my accomplish. He will leave for Japan in a few weeks, and will be accompanied by a corps of scientific assistants.

"EXECUTIVE MANSION,
"WASHINGTON, June 27, 1871.

"Hon. Horace Capron, Commissioner of Agriculture:

"DEAR SIR: Your letter of the 27th instant, tendering your resignation as Commissioner of Agriculture, is just received. Appreciating, as I do, the value of the Department over which you have so ably presided for years, to the country at large, I should regret receiving or accepting your resignation, were it not for the importance attached to the new position which you are called on to fill, and which, no doubt, will be filled with credit, and to the inestimable value of the nation which has secured your services.

"In the new place of which you have accepted the responsibilities, I predict results creditable to yourself and to the nation which has so honored you, as well as the rapid advance of commerce between that nation and all others. Such a result cannot prove otherwise than beneficial to the world's interests, leaving out of the account that of ourselves as a single nation.

"Your resignation is accepted from the date proposed by yourself, with anticipations that you will realize all that is expected from your new duties.

"With sincere wishes for your future success, I subscribe myself, very sincerely, your obedient servant,

U. S. GRANT."

The following brief sketch of the new Commissioner of Agriculture is given in lieu of a more elaborate notice, the materials for which are not now accessible:

"Mr. Watts is a native of Carlisle, and the son of an eminent lawyer of that place. He graduated at Dickinson College. After leaving college he studied law, was admitted to practice, and soon became one of the most accomplished members of the Pennsylvania bar. He served with marked ability during a term of ten years as President of the Court of Common Pleas for Juniata, Cumberland and Perry counties. He subsequently retired from the bar, and devoted himself to agricultural pursuits. He is now President of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Society, and is one of the most scientific and intelligent agriculturists in the country. Mr. Watts was an old-line Whig, but not what was known as a "strict party man." When the Republican party was formed, the Judge identified himself with it, and has ever since been a thorough Republican, though never an active politician. He is a brother of Hon. Henry M. Watts, who was appointed to a foreign mission during Johnson's Administration. He is a worthy successor of General Capron, who is understood to have warmly advocated his appointment."

POLITICAL.

GEN. CAMERON.

The Washington National Republican, which some of our Republican cotemporaries look upon as the organ of the National Administration, says, in reference to Gen. Cameron's Vice Presidential aspirations: "Mr. Cameron is a rare and sturdy old gentleman, a superb politician and a statesman of acknowledged ability. He is extremely popular with the people, possesses not only a national but almost a world-wide reputation, and would, we have no doubt, poll a unanimous vote in his party."

On the same subject the Upper Dauphin Register remarks: "A Grant and Cameron meeting was held at Baltimore last week, at which resolutions were passed in favor of the renomination of Gen. Grant for President in 1872, and for Gen. Cameron for Vice President. A Grant and Cameron club was formed, of which S. S. Blair, Esq., was chosen President.

"This movement seems to us not only proper, but as having been made with exceeding good judgment. That Gen. Grant should and will receive a renomination for President, there can scarcely be a doubt. His administration has been one of unexampled and almost unexpected success. He was inaugurated into office when the country was filled with troubles, disorders, difficulties and disturbances, caused by the mal-administration, perversity and treachery of Johnson. Under Grant order has been brought out of chaos. He has ruled with a steady hand, and with an eye single to the general welfare and prosperity, and although politicians have found fault with him because they could not use him, or turn him from his firmly fixed purpose, the people have observed and approved his course, and will support him with alacrity for re-election. They have tried him and not found him wanting in any essential particular as the head of the government of this great, growing and diversified nation. They desire no change, while the Constitution allows Gen. Grant to be their President.

"The bringing forward of Gen. Cameron for the Vice Presidency is not only proper but complimentary to Pennsylvania. No better candidate could be selected, nor one that would be better received over the country. It is known to all that General Cameron, as Secretary of War under Lincoln, was the first to comprehend fully the situation of the country at the breaking out of the rebellion; and it must seem clear to all who regarded the facts at that time, that if his views had been followed, the rebellion would have soon be crushed out, and an immense amount of lives, suffering and treasure saved. We do not know whether Gen. Cameron would accept the nomination for Vice President, having been a prominent candidate for President when Lincoln was first nominated; but if he should be nominated, we predict that he will not only be a strong candidate in Pennsylvania, but throughout the Union, having been long and well known as a true and faithful representative of the people and their interests in the Senate of the United States, where he has never failed to stand up for, and manfully defend, the interests of labor in this and all other States of the Union."

THE Miltonion says: Maryland sounds the key note of the coming Presidential campaign, by organizing a Grant and Cameron club, and resolving to work to secure the nomination of the former for President and the latter for Vice President in 1872. Maryland thus recognizes the fact that in the approaching campaign the great Keystone State must not be ignored. It is vitally necessary that Pennsylvania should be given every inducement to throw into the contest her whole strength. And no one of her very eminent sons is in every way so well qualified to call forth the hearty support of a great majority of her citizens as her veteran statesman General Simon Cameron. We thank Maryland for taking the lead in this matter. We are glad to see the worth of our venerable Senator, recognized and appreciated abroad as well as at home. Let Grant and Cameron be nominated, and we venture to predict that Pennsylvania will give a Republican majority of at least thirty thousand.

[We have good authority for stating that General Cameron is not a candidate for the Vice Presidency. This fact greatly enchances the value of the handsome compliments which the press in different parts of the country are giving him.—EDITORS GAZETTE.]

A Commune Circular.

PARIS, 19 Prairial, an 79.

TO ALL CITIZENS: In the presence of the fury unchained against the proletairiat it is the duty of all members of the association of workingmen to protest with all their force against an unparalleled return of barbarity. The Commune is accused of all kinds of baseness, robberies and incendiarism. Never has Paris been more calm than during the Commune. If during the bloody struggle against the soldiers of reaction, disorders took place they were not committed by the soldiers of the right to labor. There were some fires; but in addition to those lighted by the Versaillaists, had not Paris—crushed by the janissaries of reaction, of despotisms—the right to bury herself beneath her ruins, with the cry of "Vive la Commune!" "Vive la Republique Sociale?" Workmen of all countries! they treat us as assassins, robbers, incendiaries! It is for you to judge and make your choice. Since the creation of the world the proletarie is the slave of capital, of the clergy, of the nobility. Admitting that we may have committed all the crimes of which they accuse us, are not our oppressors a thousand times more culpable than we are? We offered them our hand; they rejected it. Workingmen! our crime is having desired the liberty of labor, the emancipation of woman—in a word, the right to live. During a few days we arrived at our ideal. We have succumbed; we are not conquered. They cannot conquer socialism, for it is right and just. Come to us. We have opened the road; we have strewn it with our dead bodies. They are sign-posts for our children. There is no longer the power of drawing back; the struggle has commenced. Paris has shown you what the people can do. Forward and let us avenge by the ruin of society as it at present exists, our brothers who have died in order to withdraw us from the yoke of our secular oppressors—priests, kings and capital. "Vive la Commune!" "Vive la Republique Sociale."

Concerning Railway Traveling.

Is'nt it time for the new departure to invade the province of railway accommodation? More than ten years ago inventions announced to prevent dust and cinders from entering the cars, as well as others for burning up the smoke of engines, so that passengers might have their choice between carbonic acid gas and pure air. But the inventions failed to meet the desired end or the managers failed to see that there were advantages connected with the use of these contrivances which might result to their profit. But it is certain that the road which presents fewest of the attractions of purgatory will be chosen by the majority of summer travelers, with whom speed is not so much an object as comfort. The cost of smoke burners for the engine, and canvas dust cloths for keeping the dust from flying above the wheels, and wire gauze for the windows, would be trifling compared with the increased comfort they would give. The simple arrangement of moveable foot rests, which could be adjusted for the convenience of something less than the height of the average political conventionist, or government messenger, would be cause of gratitude; but when shall we have it? Then, the seats in the first class coaches are not really so elastic nor placed at such an easy slope as those in the second class; added to which, it is imposible to move them. In carriages of such pretension as the drawing room and palace cars, something more is desirable than the privilege of being shut up in a closet, with hard stuffed, straight benches, in which it is no use to think of any but a position of bolt up rightness—N. Y. Tribune.

IT wouldn't be a bad idea to erect a monument to the inventor of fire crackers, and then on such days as the Fourth of July quiet people could let loose some of their pent-up feelings by flinging stones at it and hanging dead cats to it. It would be a sort of a safety valve, and as such would prove valuable.

HARDNESS OF HEARING.

We repeat what we have often said before in these columns that there are numberless persons who are sadly afflicted with slight difficulty of hearing, for which they have been taught to believe that there is no cure. The late investigations in the anatomy and structure of the ear, and the improvement of medicine in regard to the treatment thereof, have made these ailments as easy of removal as any other human infirmity. Dr. Keyser, who has an office in the rear of his Great Medicine Store, 167 Liberty street, has had uniform success in the treatment of all such cases, besides a vast variety of chronic diseases of a scrofulous character, embracing those of the skin and integumentary system: together with Fistula and Piles. Our citizens need not run off to distant localities when persons of such ability as Dr. K. possesses may be found in our midst. We always prefer giving home talent the distinction to which it is justly entitled, if, for no other reason, that prominent one, that such can always be found at their post when wanted, and need not wander all over the country in quest of patients.

HOW WE USED TO BE PHYSICKED.

Who does not remember the time when spring purgation was considered indispensible to summer health? No matter for wry faces, the inevitable salts and senna, rhubarb, or calomel and jalap, must be administered. These "spring medicines," the youngsters were told, were to keep them hale and hearty during the summer. We all know now that this was a fallacy; that new vigor, not depletion, is what is requested at the commencement of the summer solstice. As a preparation for the enervating effects of oppressive summer weather, a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is highly expedient. This famous vegetable preparation has three prominent properties: It renovates, purifies and regulates all the functions of the body. It is composed exclusively of pure vegetable productions, viz.: the essential principles of Monongahela Rye, and the most efficacious tonic and alterative roots, barks, and gums known to medical botanists. Hence, it is an absolutely safe medicine, and no tincture of the Pharmacopœia can compare with it either in purity, or in the variety of its objects, and its comprehensive results. Happily for mankind, the theory that it was necessary to prostrate him, is forever exploded, and the true philosophical doctrine, that vigor is the great antagonist of disease, has taken its place. Hostetter's Bitters is an invigorant, and hence it is the proper medicine for the feeble at the most trying season of the year.

Be sure that you obtain the genuine article, as there are innumerable vile imitations in the market. Look to the ornamental stamp, the engraved label, and the name blown into the glass. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is sold in bottles only.

There has been an active local demand for loans since the 4th inst. The banks, some of them, are busy paying out dividends, and others find the amount of paper pressing for their attention larger than usual, and borrowers are forced to seek for money outside. The rates, however, continue nearly the same, and the outlook for the summer and early fall is not discouraging.

The inquiry for local stocks exceeds the supply and all kinds are bringing good prices and find ready customers.

Gold weaker, owing to a decline in the foreign exchange, and closing at 113⅛@113¼. From one to two per cent was paid for carrying this morning, and from one to two per cent for use this afternoon. Clearings about fifty-five millions. Awards at the Treasury sale one million at 113.38 the decline in gold and sales to realize the recent short advance in prices have resulted in a lower market for Government bonds.

Stocks are active and buoyant, except Rock Island. It is reported to-day that the Southwestern Railroad will be consolidated with the Rock Island, which will have a tendency to depress the latter and may momentarily cause a decline in the remainder of the list. Lake Shore has been the strongest on the list, and the Rock Island market closed steady. Money is easy at 3 per cent. State bonds are dull but strong.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, July 6, 1871.

ASHES—Common Soda Ash, 4¼@4⅜; refined do, 4½@4¾; Pearls, 8¾@9; Pots, 7¼@7½.

BUTTER—Nearly all the produce houses report the market very dull, and notwithstanding the receipts are only moderate, the supply seems to be in excess of the demand; prices, however, remain unchanged, prime to choice 16@18c. It would appear that the pedlers and farmers are bringing almost enough to supply the retailers, and, in consequence, there is very little inquiry for "commission" butter.

BEANS—Prime white $2,00@2,25 per bushel.

BROOM CORN—Very dull.

BEESWAX—Quoted at 33@35.

CEMENT—Louisville, $2,50@3,00 per bbl. Rosendale, $4,00@4,50; Calcined Plaster, $4,25@4,50.

COUNTRY BACON—Very dull, though the stock is not increasing. Country Lard, 9@10c.

CORN MEAL—The demand is light and restricted mainly to small lots while prices are unchanged, 80@85 cts per bushel.

CARBON OIL—Is quiet and unchanged; standard brands, in a jobbing way, 23¼@24—usual advance for small lots.

CHEESE—Continues weak, under the influence of liberal receipts and only a moderate demand; we now quote prime Ohio Goshen at 12: prime Factory, 11 and Dairy at 9@10.

CANNED GOODS—Tomatoes are very scarce, and standard brands, are held firmly at $2.62. Peaches unchanged; $2 for 2 lb and $1,00@3,25 for 3 lb cans; stock of 3 lb cans very much reduced. Corn, $2,50 including Winslow's.

EGGS—There is a fair demand and strictly fresh may be fairly quoted at 16c. Old stock, and there is considerable of this kind on the market, is dull and hard to dispose of at any price.

FLOUR—The market, under the influence of late advices from both east and west, continues weak, and in view of the fact that a decline is confidently expected soon, the demand is light being restricted mainly to supplying immediate wants. We continue to quote good spring extras at $7,00; choice Minnesota baker's flour, $7,25; and good to choice red winter at $7,00@7,25. As might be expected, dealers are not disposed to submit to a decline, particularly as the great proportion of their stock was contracted for some time ago, and even at present prices the margins are very small; the indications at present point unmistakeably to a lower range of prices; this is evident from the fact that already wheat has dropped very considerably all over the country.

FRUITS—Green Apples, coming in freely and the market is well supplied; we now quote at $3@5 per bbl, according to quality. Oranges and Lemons, slow and easier; may be quoted at $6@7. Layer Raisins, $3 per box; Valencia Raisins, 13c per lb; Prunes, 10c for Turkey and 12c for French. Currants, 10c.

GRAIN—There is very little inquiry for Wheat, and, consequently, notwithstanding the receipts are small, and the stock in the hands of dealers very light, prices are weak and entirely nominal; it would seem that the mills are pretty well stocked, and this being the case, the supply, notwithstanding it is small, is fully equal to the demand: we continue to quote at $1,30@1,35 for red and $1,40@1,45 for white. The feeling in Oats is not so strong, and is becoming weaker each succeeding day; the new crop, according to late reports from the country, has improved wonderfully, under the influence of the recent rains, and in many localities it is now believed that the yield will be a full average one; we continue to quote at 60 buying and 63 selling—66@68 for small lots, in store. Corn is a shade firmer, the supply in this market being pretty well reduced, but there is no change to make in quotations; mixed ear, in bulk, 67@68; mixed shelled, 69@70; prime yellow shelled, 72. Rye comes in very slowly; prices unchanged at $1,00@1,05. We hear of some new spring Barley having been contracted for, to be delivered in August, at 75.

GROCERIES—The market for both Sugars and Coffees is reported strong, though there is no quotable advance in prices; the feeling seems to be that Sugars are likely to rule strong for some time to come; in regard to Coffee, however, those who are well informed are doubtful, regarding the stock as being too heavy to warrant any immediate advance. Molasses and Syrups, dull and devoid of any new features worthy of special notice. Rice, easier and lower in New York.

COFFEE—Fancy Rio, 19; Prime, 18; Good, 17; Fair, 16½; Roasting, 15½@16.

SYRUPS AND DRIPS—White Honey, 72; Havemyer & Elders, 72; Silver Drips, 60; other grades, 45@55.

SUGARS—Choice New Orleans, 11¾; prime, 11½; good, 10¾; fully fair, 10⅜; Porto Rico Sugars, 10⅜@11¾; Cuba, 10@11; Demarara, 11¾@12¼.

REFINED SUGARS—Hard Sugars, 14; A Coffee, 13; "B," 12¾; Extra C, 12½; C. yellow, 12⅛.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, choice, 70; prime, 68; good, 65.

TEAS—Fancy Young Hyson, $1 40; Good, $1 15; Fair $1. Lower grades down to 70cts. G. P. Fancy, $1 50; good, $1 25; fair, $1 18; Imperial Fancy, $1 40; good, $1 25; fair, $1. Oolong fancy, $1 25; good, 80cts; fair, 60@70c. Souchong fancy, $1 20; good, 90c; fair, 70@80c. Japan Fancy, $1; good, 90c; fair, 75c.

SPICES—Grain Pepper, 32c. Pimento, 17c. Cloves, 20c. Cassia, 55c.

HAY—Continues very scarce and prices, in consequence, are still maintained; we are reported sales of several car loads of baled at $32@33 per ton—an advance of $15@17 per ton, within a few weeks. It is hardly possible, however, that these extreme prices can be maintained any length of time.

HONEY—We can report sales in a regular way at 25@30 cts per lb, for fair to choice.

HIDES—Green Salted, 10½@11¼; Green Butcher's, 8; Dry Flint, 21@22; Green Calf Skins, 14@15; Green Salted Calf, 17@18.

HUSKS—Quoted at 2½@2¾ cts.

HEMP—Rough Kentucky, $175 per ton; dressed, 14 cts per lb.

LIME—Perrysburg white, $2,00@2,25 per bbl; Cleveland $2 25; Eastern, $1,75.

MILL FEED—We can report an occasional sale of middlings at $1,70@1,75. Not much inquiry for coarse feed.

ONIONS—In good supply, dull and lower, $4@4.50 per bbl.

OIL—No. 1 Lard is still quoted at 75c, and in a round lot way, and 78@80 for small lots.

PEA NUTS—Quoted at 10½@11 cts.

POULTRY—Live chickens by the coop, 70@75 cts per pair.

POTATOES—New crop, within the past few days, have dropped $4@5 per bbl, and, even at the decline, the supply is fully up to the demand and the arrivals seem to be on the increase; we now quote at $4@5 per bbl. Old stock, $1,25@1.50 per bushel, according to quality—the outside figure for strictly prime Peach Blows.

PROVISIONS—Plain Shoulders, 7¼@7½; ribbed sides, 9@9¼; clear, 10@10¼; sugar cured shoulders, 10½@11; sugar cured hams, 16@16½. Lard, 11@11½ in tcs, and 12@12¼ in kegs. Mess Pork, $17@17,50. Dried Beef, 18@18½.

RAGS—Sales, 4@4½ cts per lb.

SEEDS—There is nothing doing in seeds. Flaxseed would sell but there is none offering.

SUMAC—Sales Tennessee Sumac at 4½ cts.

WILLOWS—Sales Kentucky willows at 10.

PITTSBURGH CATTLE MARKET.

CENTRAL YARDS.

CATTLE.

The market opened up pretty active during the early part of the week, and with a diminished supply and an unusually full attendance of buyers, everything was picked up as fast as it arrived, and that, too, at a sharp advance in prices, say ⅜ to ¾ of a cent per pound—some dealers reported the advance at a full cent. The advance was not entirely warranted by the advices from the east, but was brought about to some extent by a sharp competition among buyers, and in this way some were forced to pay more than their better judgment dictated; as will be seen by the report of sales, below annexed, quite a number of droves changed hands at 6¼@6½—one lot of extra brought 7.06, and we are cognizant of 7 cts having been bid and refused for four car loads of extra Ohio steers, not very heavy, but fat and smooth, averaging about 1350 lbs. The sales thus far this week foot up something like 1350 head, or about 75 car loads, the great proportion of which were bought for Philadelphia and New York.

The feeling to-day was not as strong as it has been, in consequence of increased arrivals, and, in addition to this, many of the largest buyers have already bought all they want for this week.

SHEEP.

The sheep market up until to-day has been strong and considerably excited, in consequence of a brisk demand and comparatively light supply, and as compared with last, prices for all grades were higher. Fair to medium sold at 3⅞@4¼; good to prime at 4½@5; and extra, at 5¼@5½; one bunch of fancy, from Washington Co., (this State) brought 5⅞. To-day, however, the market was a little off, under the influence of increased receipts, and at this writing the indications are that there will be a decline before the close of the week. Heretofore, the great proportion of the receipts have been in the early part of the week, and this is what deceived many of the buyers, who, judging from the arrivals on Monday and Tuesday, were impressed with the belief that the supply would be short.

We noted in our last report that Jos. Arnold, of Washington Co., had sold an extra drove last week, at 5¾; this was an error, it should have been 5⅜. Geo. Perritte, from the same county, did sell this week at 5⅞.

HOGS.

There has been a fair business in hogs this week, though the market has not been excited, while, as compared with last week, prices are a shade lower; the most important feature we have to notice is the fact that there is less difference being made between light and heavy hogs, and it was stated to-day that the former were selling if anything more readily than the latter at very nearly the same price; the range to-day may be given at 4,40@4,60.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

The market for both crude and refined was considerably firmer and somewhat excited today, and, as compared with yesterday, prices are higher, with a fair amount of business reported in refined in the afternoon at the advance. There was no special cause assigned for the improvement, though it seems to be regarded as legitimate, and, in consequence, will probably be sustained. Trade has been distressingly dull for some weeks past, and it is hoped that business is about to revive, and, as settlement day (the 30th of June) has passed, notwithstanding it would seem that some of the shorts have not yet come to the mark, by settling "differences," it is earnestly desired that these expectations will be fully realized.

CRUDE.

Market, as already intimated, considerably firmer and, in view of the improvement in refined, the producers are making an effort to establish an advance in crude. We can report 1,000 bbls spot at Parker at $4,90: 1,000 seller August, at $5; and 1,000 seller 30 days at $4.85. Yesterday spot was offering at $4,85.

REFINED.

July opened quiet but became firmer as the advanced and closed strong at advance of from ⅛ to ¼ of a cent as compared with yesterday; several thousand barrels were sold during the day, at 25⅛@25⅜ and 25¼; late in the afternoon, 3,000 bbls at 25¼. August quoted at 26 and September, at 26¼.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION.

Its Cure and its Preventive.

BY J. H. SCHENCK, M.D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Sea-weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionary disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbification of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but, unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucuous deposits in the bowels and the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Sea-weed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature can not be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings, it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country, in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of the blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then, like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time.

"As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since.

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them. First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone for ever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sea-weed Tonic $1 50 a bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers. ap18:p3-MWF

Keep Your Houses Clean,

AND

BY USING THE

Wellman Patent Reflector

STOVE AND GRATE.

Which Stand Without a Rival.

The WELLMAN STOVE is furnished with the "REFLECTOR GRATE," and possesses all the advantages of an open fire place; it is specially adapted to houses where the flues are too small to admit a grate, and affords all the comforts of a CHEERFUL OPEN FIRE.

1st. As a radiator of heat it has double the intensity of any other grate.

2d. It is unquestionably the most cleanly—no soot or ashes escaping into the room—which, in the ordinary Grate, proves so detrimental to carpets and furniture.

3d. The combustion is perfect. There is no waste in unburnt cinders—every ounce of the fuel is so completely consumed, that nothing remains but the finest ashes.

4th. As an economizer of fuel—there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent

5th. It is highly ornamental.

6th. It is set so deep in the chimney, that it is much safer, and also less liable to puff in windy weather.

7th. A slight motion of the shaker cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.

Samples may be seen and references had at the store of W. BARNES, corner of 3d avenue and Market street, Pittsburgh; W. F. GOODWIN, 66 Federal street, Allegheny, or at the FOUNDRY, corner Duquesne Way and Water street, Pittsburgh.

Parties who are building, or who contemplate changing Grates, are respectfully requested to examine "The Wellman." Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases.

Editors Gazette:—Please insert the following, in justice to frail women:

The Leader man, in last Sunday's issue, reports the doings of a U. P. church in Allegheny City, over Bessie Bramble's name. Now, Bessie Bramble can neither read nor write, and she wishes me to say, in behalf of herself and our fallen sisters, that, low as we are, we could not degrade ourselves by sneaking into a church and profaning it by such a report. We never go to church, but if we did, we would behave ourselves better than that. Now, although we generally agree with the Leader man in all matters of morality and religion, especially on the Sunday question—total depravity—Psalm singing, &c., and though we esteem him as a friend and associate, yet we protest against his reporting in public what happens in our private circle and putting our names to it; besides, he proves just what we don't want anybody to believe, that is, that there is at least one case of total depravity. But the most malicious thing he did was to praise the preacher. How mortified the man would be when he heard that the Leader praised him. Bessie and I are both bad and low enough, but we are not so malicious as to try to ruin a good man's character by praising him. Mr. Bessie, if you call again we will make it all up again.

Ankle Crushed.

About half-past one o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mr. J. Z. McBride, an employe in the boat store of Caldwell & Bro., corner of First avenue and Short street, met with a serious accident, which will probably result in the loss of a leg. Mr. McB. was assisting to unload a stave machine from a wagon, and by some mishap a heavy part of the machinery fell upon his ankle, completely crushing it. The injured man was conveyed to the Homeopathic Hospital, where his injuries were attended to by Dr. McClelland. The injury is pronounced a compound comminuted fracture, and it is thought that amputation cannot be avoided.

Teachers Elected.

Last evening the School Board of the Grant Sub-district, Third ward, Pittsburgh, held a meeting at the school house, when the following teachers were elected for the ensuing year:

Principal—J. N. Stephenson.
Grammar Department—Misses S. A. Wallace, M. J. Graham, H. A. Johnson.
Intermediate—Misses Ida McClarren, Fanny Cougher, P. B. Cougher, Lizzie Crooks, Jennie Mitchell.
Primary—Mattie McKnight, Miss F. Hebron, Jennie Hastings, May McElroy, M. J. McCain, Maggie McElroy.

The Board also made arrangements for the thorough repair and renovation of the school house during the summer vacation.

Liberty Street Merchants vs. Pennsylvania R. R. Co.

A deep feeling is now prevailing in the minds of the business men and property owners of Liberty street, in reference to the long continuance of the track of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company on said street. Their idea of the matter is that the time has long since expired for which the company had the right to occupy the street. We learn that large numbers of the parties are willing to grant their request if they will remove said track entirely from Liberty street. We hear that large numbers of the merchants and others interested will attend the meeting of Councils on Monday next, and there quietly watch the proceedings and actions of the public servants. The correspondence published in a morning contemporary a few days ago is deprecated by all as not in the proper spirit. We advocate moderation and temperate councils on all sides, and trusting the Railroad Company will see the justice of the request, and not continue to inflict on the city so gross a wrong and on the citizens, frequently jeopardizing life and property. We trust that the Councils will weigh the matter carefully and give an opportunity to the citizens to carefully examine the ordinance before passing it.

Butler County Measuring with Beaver.

Whitestown, Butler County, Pa.
July 3, 1871.

Messrs. Editors Gazette: In your weekly issue of the 21st ult., under the heading "The State," Mr. Nayro Park, of Bridgewater, Beaver county, gives the following length of straw "from a single seed of rye." His product was 6 stalks averaging 5 feet 9 inches, amounting in length of straw to 34 feet 6 inches. Thinks this is pretty hard to beat. As we are neighbors and send you many good things of which the crowds on your streets gave no complaint on Friday last at your bovine exhibition of our Butler County Calf, which weighed two thousand six hundred pounds, for which we thank the Beaver Falls butchers in their honorable notice of under same heading. We hope they will grow fat and hearty on it and shortly call for more.

But, as it is grain they wish to "be beat" in we adduce the following samples raised in Connoquenessing township, Butler county, Pa.: No. 1 is the product of a single grain of wheat matured in the garden of our time-honored postmaster of Whitestown, Mr. J. A. Fletcher. 83 stalks which yielded over a half-pint tumbler full of clean wheat. Remember it would not all lie on, how many thousand grains did it yield? No. 2 is the product of a single grain of rye exhibited at our Post Office yielding 27 stalks averaging in height 5 feet 3 inches—1827 inches or 152 feet 3 inches. No. 3 is the ne plus ultra of a single rye seed produced by Mr. J. A. F. and left at Allen's Mill on exhibition; yield 31 stalks, 5½ feet average height—2046 inches or 170 feet 6 inches. Farmers, how is this for high?

The Homestead Bank and Life Insurance Company.

We find the following very strong claims put forth in regard to this institution in the pamphlet "Homes for the People, and How to Get Them," to which we directed attention some days ago."

"THE ONLY SAVINGS BANK IN ALLEGHENY COUNTY that does not hazard the funds entrusted to it in "Loans" and "Discounts" that may become valueless!

The only one whose whole investment will be in the ownership of Real Estate, which is the "basis of all security."

The only one that will use its deposits for the direct benefit of the industrial classes of community!

The only one that promises its depositors any advantage beyond the mere interest on their money.

The only one whose interest may not be hostile to that of its patrons; which cannot profit by their disaster, and whose success must benefit the whole social fabric.

The only Life Insurance Company in the world that gives its patrons immediate possession of the entire value and substance of their insurance."

If anything can add force to this statement of the case it is this, the facts fully warrant it. The example of this company will work a perfect revolution, not only in the "Savings Bank" and Life Insurance business, but it will also doubtless supercede the whole machinery of the Building and Loan Associations as heretofore organized.

We hope every man who desires to live in his own home, will get the circular and examine for himself.

THE COURTS.

Yesterday's Proceedings.

QUARTER SESSIONS—JUDGE STOWE.

The first case called was that of the Commonwealth vs. John Eaton, indicted for felonious assault and battery, J. H. Merritt, prosecutor. It was alleged and proved by the Commonwealth that the defendant did, on the 10th of June, assault the prosecutor and inflict a severe wound upon him with a knife. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty, and the defendant was sentenced to pay a fine of six cents, the costs of prosecution and to undergo two years imprisonment in the penitentiary.

J. Abrahams and H. Abrahams, father and son, were next tried for committing an assault and battery on Mr. J. McFetridge. The jury rendered a verdict of not guilty as to the father, and guilty as to the son. Sentence deferred.

The next case taken up was that of George Humbert, indicted for assault and battery with attempt to outrage the person of Ella Smith, a little girl scarcely six years of age, a daughter of Mrs. Eliza Smith. The jury found a verdict of not guilty.

The counsel for the defendant in the case of the commonwealth vs. Michael Kilgallon, indictment for perjury, made a motion to quash the indictment. The court took charge of the papers.

Henry Kirk was tried for keeping a ferocious dog, and found guilty. The court sentenced defendant to pay a fine of ten dollars, the costs of prosecution and to summarily dispose of the dog.

A. C. Clark was next placed on trial for false pretenses. The prosecutor, A. McClintock, alleged that Clark had obtained lath to the value of $46 by false representations. The case is still on trial.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Woman Run Over by Cars on Allegheny Valley Railroad and Cut to Pieces—The Remains Buried Without Holding an Inquest.

A terrible and fatal accident occurred in Lawrenceville, on the track of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, on the Fourth. After the passage of one of the up trains on the road the mangled remains of a woman were found on the track. Without the knowledge of those on board, the train had run over her, literally cutting her to pieces. The remains were gathered up and shortly identified as those of Jane Whittaker, a woman about thirty-three years of age, who had been living in the vicinity of the Sharpsburg bridge. It is said that the woman was addicted to drink, and the supposition is that she was lying in an intoxicated condition on the track at the time of the fatal accident.

So far as is known, she was unmarried, but is said to have been living as the wife of a laboring man there. This man was sent for to come and take charge of the woman's body, but it is said that he sent back word that he was busy with his work and had no time to waste on her.

After a while some persons took the body in charge and removed it to the station house on Ewalt street. Fairman & Sampson, undertakers, were notified, and had the remains coffined and removed to their establishment. A permit was obtained from the Board of Health, and the body was buried in the Allegheny Cemetery the same evening.

Some parties assert that an inquest was held by somebody on the corpse as it lay at the station house, but the Coroner states that he held no inquest and has received no report of any having been held. He was not notified, he says, of the death, and knew nothing of it until the body had been buried.

OLD MERCHANTS IN TROUBLE.

A Startling Sensation in Commercial Circles—Grave Charges of Fraud, Embezzlement and Conspiracy—The Accused Old Residents and Business Men—The Details of the Allegations—$30,000 Bail Required—One of the Accused Arrested—The Other on His Way to the City.

Within a few days past a sensation in commercial circles has been developing and yesterday it had reached that stage when the publication of the facts was rendered possible. The case is one in which two of our hitherto most highly respected citizens are involved and as such, the proceedings thus far have occasioned great pain to their many friends, who have looked forward, however, to the result, with confident feelings that all will be satisfactorily explained. An understanding of the matter may be had from the following which is a copy of an information made by Mr. Thomas Chess, of Franklin, before Alderman McMasters, a few days ago.

THE ALLEGED FRAUD.

Commonwealth vs. Isaac M. Pennock.

Personally came Thomas Chess, who deposed that Isaac M. Pennock, "devising, practicing and falsely and unlawfully, fraudulently and deceitfully intending to cheat and defraud" the said Thomas Chess, did about 27th October, A. D., 1870, write a certain letter (in substance) as follows: "Will be obliged to draw on you at sight, 28th inst. (to-morrow), for $1,250—to pay $1,373 39—two drafts due to-morrow. We also enclose you to-day for your acceptance six drafts at forty days for $397 55—fifty days $396 15—sixty days $391 84—seventy days $395 37—eighty days $390 73—ninety days $391 25—return these by first mail, so that we may get them discounted and pay the drafts drawn on you recently, &c., and oblige

Yours truly,
Pennock & Beeson.
By I. M. P.

"You will please return the drafts inclosed at once and early in the morning (28th) say by telegraph at our cost. You are authorized to draw on me at sight for twelve hundred and fifty dollars. Do not neglect this, and oblige,

Yours truly, Pennock & Beeson.
Per I. M. P."

That by the said fraudulent promise contained in the letter of the 27th of October, 1870, for the purpose of obtaining the signature of the said Thomas Chess to the said drafts, with intent to cheat and defraud him of the same, and by the false pretence that the same would be applied to pay other drafts and obligations of the said Thomas W. Chess, made by the said Isaac M. Pennock to the said Thomas Chess, did procure the said Thomas Chess to accept said drafts for the purpose of having them applied to the payment of other obligations of the said Thomas Chess, to-wit: Draft for $870 31, draft for $398 70, draft for $600 00, draft for $626 26, drawn by T. Chess on the said Pennock & Beeson—fraudulently applied the proceeds of the same to the use of himself and father, Joseph Pennock—for this purpose did dispose of the same.

Sworn and subscribed before me, &c.
S. McMasters, Alderman.

THE CONSPIRACY CASE.

Commonwealth vs. Isaac M. Pennock and Joseph Pennock.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, city of Pittsburgh, ss:

Before me the subscriber and Alderman in and for the said city, personally came Wm. M. Faber, Thomas Chess and Edmund Tabor, who upon oath administered according to law, doth depose and say that between the 9th day of February, 1869, and the 25th day of December, 1870, the said Isaac M. Pennock and Joseph Pennock, unlawfully did conspire together and agree to cheat and defraud the said Wm. M. Faber, Thomas Chess and Macomber, Taber & Co., and other creditors of the firm of Pennock & Beeson, of their monies, goods and chattels, and did then and there, at the time and times aforesaid, in the county aforesaid, together unlawfully cheat and defraud Albert G. Beeson, of the said Pennock & Beeson, Thomas Chess, Wm. M. Tabor, Masomber, Tabor & Co., and other creditors of the said firm of Pennock, of large sums of money, goods and chattels—to wit, $30,000 and upwards—complainants therefore pray and desire that a warrant may issue, and the aforesaid defendants, Isaac M. Pennock and Joseph Pennock, may be arrested and held to answer this charge of conspiracy. And further deponent saith not.

[Signed.] Wm. M. Taber,
Thomas Chess,
Edmund Faber.

Sworn and subscribed before me, &c.
S. McMasters, Alderman.

THE EMBEZZLEMENT.

A third information is also made by Thomas Chess, charging Issac M. Pennock with embezzlement, in that holding a power of attorney from said Thomas Chess, he did fraudulently use the same for other than the text of the same called for, with intent to defraud and cheat Mr. Chess, having made drafts, accepted by Chess, and appropriated the proceeds to his own use and benefit of Joseph Pennock his father.

The counsel engaged in the case were Col. J. K. Kerr and John Barton, Esq., for the prosecution, and T. M. Marshall, Esq., for the defense.

The accused were members of the firm of Pennock & Beeson, oil dealers, and it is in connection with the business transactions of that firm that the alleged criminal proceedings were conducted. The firm a few months ago dissolved and the allegation is that these grave directions were discovered while the partnership affairs were being settled up.

As soon as the informations were made the officers arrested Mr. Isaac M. Pennock, who when taken before the magistrate gave bail in the sum of $30,000, Alfred Patterson, Esq., becoming his surety. Mr. Joseph Pennock is a resident of Philadelphia, but is now on his way to this city in charge of the officers.

Both of the accused are gentlemen well known in the social and business circles of Pittsburgh, where they have always been held in the highest esteem. Each has been engaged in extensive business, in former years, but through complications lost all. It is but proper to say that thus far but one side of the story has been heard, and public judgment should be withheld until the other is known.

DIXMONT.

Entertainment—A Variety Troupe—A Pleasant Affair and a Delighted Audience.

A pleasant affair took place yesterday afternoon at the Western Pennsylvania Hospital at Dixmont, being a variety performance before a large number of the patients. Several of the managers of the Hospital, together with a number of invited guests, including ladies, were present and the visit was much enjoyed by all. Soon after the arrival of the party they were invited to partake of a sumptuous dinner to which ample justice was done. Dr. Reed and his estimable wife did all in their power to make every one at home and they succeeded to perfection. When the repast was finished the party were escorted to the chapel on the third story, north side of the centre building. This room was especially prepared for congregate meetings of the patients for religious services, amusements, &c., and it is admirably adapted therefor. It is, we believe, capable of seating four hundred persons, and it is provided with a neat stage with scenery, drop curtain and all the appliances necessary for theatrical representations, &c. But lately nice scenery and a handsome drop curtain was procured and it is proposed as often as practicable to furnish amusements to the patients to relieve the monotony and weariness of their Hospital life. The scenes are all very fine and the painting which was done by Messrs. Plaisted & Hoyt of this city, really excellent. The guests were seated and the Company repaired "behind the scenes" while the better patients, male and female, to the number of probably two hundred fifty were ushered in. An excellent programme had been prepared, and printed bills were furnished to all. The Orchestra was under the leadership of Prof. Teorge. The audience was a peculiar one and those blessed with reason watched the unfortunate ones with much interest. The performance, which was full and varied was excellent, those participating therein appearing to strive with all earnestness to do their best to please their unfortunate fellowmen. The patients all preserved the most strict decorum, and although some few appeared to take no interest in what was going on, the majority gave entire attention and joined heartily in applauding and otherwise showing their appreciation of the performance. When the entertainment had been concluded the company appeared before the proscenium, when they were addressed by the Superintendent, Dr. Reed.

The guests had time to visit but one of the wards, after which they bade adieu to their host and hostess, with memories of a most enjoyable afternoon.

F. A. Konold & Co., successors to Dieffenbacher, No. 19 Fifth avenue, have one of the most elegant and complete boot and shoe stores in the city. The Fourth—How it Passed Off—Business in Town—Signs of Progress—Noticeable Improvements—Y. M. C. A. Meetings—The Croquet War.

Connellsville, like other places had its Fourth, which passed off in much the same manner as did the holiday elsewhere. In the absence of any particular public demonstration, the patriotic effervescence of many found expression in picnic festivities—or rather would have done so but for the untimely interference of the showers which suddenly and to the grief of all checked the hilarity just as it had fairly begun. The disappointment was great, especially among the little folks whose visions of feasting and frolic were thus dissipated or drowned out in the falling rain; many of maturer years also shared in the general sorrow and were as melancholy as the children while filing homeward under umbrellas, sunshades and improvised shelters. The change in the afternoon, however, induced a few to return to the picnic grounds, and thus half a day's pleasure at least was enjoyed in the woodland festivities. The Protestant Sunday schools had united, and selected the "Island," a romantic and exceedingly beautiful place, as their rendezvous, where in croquet, ball and other out-door sports the time was agreeably whiled away—until the rain came and scattered all; some of these returned in the afternoon. The Catholic schools gathered in a lovely grove on the hillside, across the river, and with music and other accessories of the terpsichorean art, managed to "weather the storm" and pass the hours with considerable enthusiasm.

There seemed to be a limited assortment of fireworks in town and the pyrotechnic display was therefore not a success; there was, however, an abundance of "fire water," and the enthusiasm of not a few found vent through this medium—which is explanatory of the weary ones who, toward evening, picturesquely and at intervals reposed along the sidewalks and every place save the lockup, where they should have lingered. Notwithstanding the large supply of fluid, however, the town was comparatively quiet and nothing occurred to render the day publicly memorable in a disgraceful or disagreeable way.

Connellsville is a pretty busy place just now—the completion of the road through having been of substantial advantage to tradesmen—and the projected new road from Greensburg, toward the south, lending an additional impulse to the great expectations indulged in by the Connellsvillians for the future. This new road will pass through the town, not far from the present depot. The surveys have almost been completed, and it is expected that the contract will soon be let and the work pushed forward vigorously. A connection will thus be made with the Pennsylvania Railroad and with the network of southern railroads, which, before long, will terminate at Charlestown, West Virginia. The importance of such a connection is easily seen.

An evidence of substantial growth, is the organization of a National bank, in the town. The new enterprise is in the hands of competent gentlemen and business will it is said commence in a few weeks.

Building improvements are visible everywhere. The Odd Fellows hall, a fine three story brick building on Main street, is rapidly approaching completion, and will be an architectural ornament to the place. Ground has been been broken also, we understand for the carpenter shop which is to be part of the new shops of the Railroad Company. These shops are all to be commenced it is expected during the present season. In the meantime the Connellsvillians are getting somewhat more independent on that "Shop" question and now seem to think that it makes very little difference whether the Company favors them or not, as the town is bound to be "something" anyhow, possibly a manufacturing centre. To an unprejudiced observer, the prospects for the place do seem encouraging in that direction.

The Young Men's Christian Association is exhibiting gratifying evidences of vigor. The Sunday evening out-door preaching is quite a feature in religious services, and always attracts large audiences. Those interested in this method of evangelization certainly have every incentive to encourage them in their good work.

Revs. Barnett, of the Presbyterian, and Horner, of the Methodist Episcopal, Church, have unbuckled the harness and are away enjoying their summer vacations.

There has been a change in journalistic circles. Bro. Holmes has decended from the editorial tripod and no longer talks to the people from that lofty elevation. The descent was of his own accord—other business engaging his attention. The consequent vacancy in the Monitor and Youghioghenian office has not yet been filled.

A great sorrow and melancholy gloom has fallen upon some of the good people of the town by reason of the continued popularity of croquet. Last season they hovered on the very verge of croquet monomania—but now a change has come over the "spirit of their dreams"—at least with some of them; after serious reflection they estimate the little game as perhaps a fascinating, but for all that the more dangerous embodiment of the "exceeding sinfulness of sin," so there is a genuine war in social—moral circles over it. The contest so far seems to be largely in favor of the croqueters, but perhaps when we write again the tide of battle will have turned. H.

POLICE NOTES.

Brief Mention of Criminalities.

Jas Kenney went into the photographic gallery of Mr. Burke on Fifth avenue and inquired if pictures of a certain style could be taken for a certain price, stating that he understood that Mr. Burke took them for that price. Burke told Mr. Kenney that he was a liar, and upon his remonstrating, that he was a d——d liar. Mr. Kenney then said he would have nothing more to do with Burke, as he was a scoundrel. But Mr. Burke seized him and held him until a policeman was called in and then handed Kenney over to him, and he was taken to the mayor's office. The mayor heard the story and discharged Kenney, who then came to the office of Alderman Taylor and made the information as given above. A hearing will be had in the case, when the facts will be more fully developed.

An old man named John Manning, who is a peddler, made an information before Alderman McMasters yesterday morning charging John Good with assault and battery, and with larceny. It appears that Manning sat down on a stone in Mt. Washington borough last evening to rest and fell asleep. He was awakened by three men, one of whom he identified as Good, who pounded him with their fists and hit him with stones, and after taking four watches, a number of chains and a smaller articles decamped. A warrant was issued.

Officer Wright made a charge of disorderly conduct against Mrs. Lawrence, before Deputy-Mayor Nichols. The officer says that as he was passing along Butler street, in the Fifteenth ward, Mrs. Lawrence attacked him, and called him all manner of abusive names. He arrested her, and yesterday morning she paid a fine of ten dollars.

Joseph Lagan (colored) preferred a charge, yesterday morning before Alderman Strain, of felonious assault and battery vs. a man known as "George." The prosecutor alleges that "George" ran at him with a razor, cutting him severely in the arm and breast, after which he escaped. Warrant issued.

Robert Gilmore, for attempting to escape from the Work House, had thirty days added to his term of imprisonment there. Don't try it again, Bob.

Andrew Knox came before Alderman Strain, yesterday, and entered suit against H. H. Walthouse for false pretenses. Mr. Knox alleged that Walthouse procured twenty dollars from him by representing that he had been sent for it by a certain gentleman, which turned out to be false. The accused was arrested and jailed for a hearing.

Yesterday we noted the taking by Alderman Koenig of the information of Margaret Neil, charging Dorothea Schlegel with larceny of a five dollar note. A time was set for the hearing, but the prosecutrix failed to be present. After waiting almost an hour the Alderman dismissed the case, shortly after which Mrs. Neil put in an appearance. She insisted upon a new information being taken by the 'Squire, which he refused to do, but told her to go to the office of Alderman Moreland. She acted very disorderly, and called the magistrate insulting names. He told Officer Moran to show her the way to 'Squire Moreland's office, which he did. Alderman Koenig also went to the office of Mr. Moreland and preferred a charge of disorderly conduct against Mrs. Neil. Yesterday her husband appeared on the scene and charged Officer Moran with false arrest. The officer and Alderman Koenig both deny that the woman was under arrest at all.

Edward Shaffelt, a carpenter employed at Mt. Hope, near Foster station on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, was brought to the Homeopathic Hospital last evening suffering from a strok of paralysis. Some five weeks ago, Mr. S., while engaged at work on a new building, sprained his left leg, and in a day or two the limb became utterly paralyzed. He was removed to the hospital, as we have stated, and is receiving proper attention.

The real elevation and happiness of a community depend upon the literary culture and refinement of those who form it. Recognizing this truth as self-evident, the Principal of the Sherman Avenue Public Schools has for many years used his best efforts to awaken and develop in his race, not only a love for knowledge and the refinements of life, but also to exemplify in their manners and conduct the best results of knowledge. Music and oratory being integral parts of a good education, an annual exhibition of the ability of the young colored people in these arts is considered necessary. Last night an appreciative audience witnessed the first exhibition of these schools in Excelsior Hall, Allegheny. The excellent entertainment was pleasing to all. For to-night an entirely new programme, both musical and literary, will be presented. Let there be a good audience.

COUNTY WORKHOUSE.

Visit of Inspection Yesterday—The Institution in Good Order.

Yesterday a number of officials paid a visit—the annual visit of inspection—to the County Workhouse. The party consisted in part of His Honor Judge Sterrett, Mayors Brush and Callow, several of the members of the Board, representatives of the press and a number of ladies—the ladies thus for the first time honoring the occasion here with their presence. The visitors left Allegheny station at nine o'clock and in a short time were on the Workhouse premises, where they spent several hours in inspecting the place.

The Institution now contains one hundred fifty-four inmates, all men, but the completion of the west wing for women will afford accommodation for that sex and by this means the list is likely to be increased in a short time. Workmen were engaged yesterday in clearing out the rubbish and preparing the west wing for occupancy. In a few days it will be ready and then the female prisoners in the jail will be removed from under the care of Warden Scandrett to that of Superintendent Cordier.

After looking through the new wing the visitors passed into the quarters occupied by the men, and found there everything in the most satisfactory condition. The inmates were for the most part busy in their various avocations, and if not positively cheerful—that was hardly to be expected—seemed to be resigned contentedly to their fate. About forty of them found employment in digging the excavations outside for the shops, which are to be erected on the premises as soon as possible. When the shops are finished the workhouse will be fully completed and in perfect "running order."

The visitors spent several hours in their investigations, which were agreeably supplemented by an elegant repast prepared for their entertainment by Superintendent Cordier, to whose exertions and those of the members of his family their guests were much indebted for the enjoyment of the occasion.

The party returned to the city about three o'clock.

Saxony in 1869 numbered 324 ore mines, 88 coal mines and 184 peat mines. The proceeds of coal mining were $4,294,570, in gold; of peat mining, $423,325 in gold, and of ore mining, $1,440,760 in gold. In the ore mines 9,770 persons were employed; in the coal mines 13,494, and in the peat mines, 3,520. By accidents 8 persons perished in the ore, 311 in the coal, and 7 in the peat mines.

The Paris Figaro says that a resident in the Rue St. Apolline left a letter, of which the following is an exact copy, for his portress, on his departure on the day when the attempt was made to remove the cannons from Montmartre: "My Dear Madame Dupont: On mature consideration, I would prefer, having explained them, to leave you instructions in writing as to your conduct in any event which may occur during my absence. In the first place, you will yourself keep the key of the cellar, which contains wine and wood, and that of my apartments. In the dining room you will find three rolls upon the table, numbered 1, 2 and 3. If the mob come and make a barricade in the Rue St. Apolline, near the house, you will instantly go up to my rooms, open the roll No. 1, and taking out the red flag contained therein you will fasten it to the stick which I myself tied to the balcony; there are hooks in the stuff; you will only have to fasten them on. If the mob threaten my apartments, you will tell them I am well known as a friend of the people, and that I offer them brandy to drink my health and wood to make a fire at night in the barricade. If the barricade is taken by the French you will hasten to take away the red flag, and instantly replace by flag No. 2, which is tricolor; you will offer wine to the soldiers, and give them wood if they bivouac in the quarter. If the Prussians meddle in the matter, you will hide Nos. 1 and 2, and hook on No. 3, which is a Prussian flag. You will give champagne and wood. I think I need say no more, and I salute you.—Signed L. D.

are well known now-a-days, Their many advantages recommend them to the lovers of house plants. They can be described in a few words. A pot, box or tray, to hold the soil, and a reasonably tight glass cover. Fill it with ferns and other suitable plants, in a proper soil. Water it once in two months; keep it away from the sun and in a moderate temperature. Do this and success will be certain. The English people understand it, and Wardian cases are more common than pianos. They are made of every sizes, from the magnificent one, sixty feet long in the South Kensington Museum, to a butter-boat covered with a goblet. The first mentioned is such a superb affair, and fills such a use full place in art and household economy, that I must turn aside to describe it. It is not only a thing of beauty but an art model for the student. It covers a party wall, and ornaments one of the halls. It so happens that there is a space about four feet wide between two walls, one of which has windows opening into the northeast cloister of the Museum. With us such a yard would be a refuse heap. Here the space is covered with a glass roof—mere sash bars with thich roughened glass, and hot water pipes put in. The wall is tastefully covered with rock work, and soil is spread among them and over the floor, and the whole place is alive with beauty. Ferns, vines and lycopods in profusion cling to the wet rocks, or brush their graceful fronds against the plate glass windows. The pipes and walls are hid. The windows are whole sheets of glass. You can imagine the effect; don't expect me to describe it.

It is complained that at the majority of watering place hotels the looking-glasses increase the size and alarmingly distort one's face; the soap is as hard as a stone, and the towels are ridiculously small and become wet if you look at them. A man out West writes to a country paper that he has discovered a certain mode of disposing of the potato bug. He sprinkles his potato tops with whisky. He is a comparatively young man.

It was out west that a gentleman of solitary tastes, capable of giving Zimmerman an idea or two on solitude, upon retiring to his couch, was disgusted to find that a great six-footer had taken possession. The western gentleman so hated the idea of having a bed-fellow that he got out at once and with a greater celerity than he got in. The snake came after him, but dislocated its neck before it had time to quit the house.

An agent for a large life insurance company in New York called some time since on a gentleman with the hope of insuring his life. On asking whether the gentleman was not desirous of taking out a life policy, he was met with the reply that if the company could insure him in the future state, he was perfectly willing. This seemed to be a poser, but the agent promptly replied that he was sorry to say his company was prevented by its charter from issuing any fire risks.

One of the jury in a recent criminal case was the proprietor of a beer saloon. The counsel in the case was describing to them the character of Ganymede. He said that in mythology he was described as the messenger of the gods; waited on them at the table and brought them wine. The saloon keeper was very much interested and listened attentively. His earnestness caused the counsel to ask: 'Do you understand me?' "Oh, yes," said the juryman, "he was a sort of beer jerker."—N. O. Pic

A Cheshire burglar escaped from the Pittsfield, Massachusetts, jail last week in an ingenious manner. On making a hole through the wall of his cell he chanced to observe a key hanging about six feet from the door. It occurred to him that it was the key of his cell. He tore the casings from his window, spliced them together, and putting them between the grates, grappled for the key, secured it, unlocked his door, got into the attic and slid down the water pipe. He was recaptured next day at Albany.

The True Woman is the name of the little paper published in Baltimore, and advocating the cause of true womanliness as opposed to that female communism which of late days has made such a racket in the world. We are glad to know that this little paper is meeting with much encouragement. Miss Susan Fenimore Cooper is writing for it a most interesting and delightful series of papers called, "Lives and Opinions of True Women." The sketch of Madame De Lafayette is a beautiful example of choice language and elegant style.

The strike among the miners in Amador county, California, was not so much for higher wages, as the same rate of pay has been continued for ten years past, but because the owners of the mine, to stop a constant theft of rich specimens that had been going on, had established a "stripping-room," in which the miners were obliged to change their garments on quitting and resuming work. To this the sensitive gentlemen objected, and so took posession of the mine. The first day's result of the stripping-room was $300. The miners call this "knocking down."

An Indiana clergyman tells this: One of his parishioners dreamed that in walking through a certain pasture he came upon a rattlesnake at the foot of a particular tree, and that it bit and killed him. In the morning he told his dream, concluded to go to the pasture, and there, beside the path at the foot of the half rotted tree, lay coiled a large rattlesnake. Seizing a stick, he struck at the snake, but his foot slipped and he fell, and the reptile bit him on the cheek. He hastened home, nearly a quarter of a mile distant, and there, two hours later, he died in great agony.

A young girl in a Western State was summoned in a certain case which came up in the Court the other day, wherein a verbal contract was the point at issue. The girl was the only witness to the contract, and it was supposed her evidence would settle the whole difficulty. Finally she was called to the witness stand, and upon being asked if she was present and heard the contract made, she replied in the affirmative. When to relate what was said, she replied that for the life of her she could not tell, as the contract was made in German, of which language she did not understand a single word. The defence was allowed to cross-examine the witness.

A leaf was brought to our office yesterday, says the Memphis Appeal, which was taken from a polonia plant that is at present growing at Mr. Jacobi's place, on the Nonconnah road, that measures thirty-four inches across and thirty-two inches lengthwise. The tree was brought from South America, of which it is a native. It has been planted here only a few months, and is now fourteen feet high, and covered with these enormous leaves. For purposes of shade this tree is unrivalled. It is said that the foliage not only intercepts the heat, but absorbs it, and that a forest of them actually makes the atmosphere cool on the hottest day.

The New York Citizen has an account of a team of trained sturgeons which draw a boat on the Lehigh canal. "The driver has his seat in the bow and directs their course with a goad, which is a long pole as thick as one's wrist, with a sharp spike sticking out a tright angles from the end, and it is surprising with what alacrity they obey. When they are to be turned to the right or left, a sudden prick on the opposite side of each sturgeon causes the pair to take the right course. When a greater speed is desired they are pierced near the tail when they are required to halt the goad is reached forward, and they are pricked in front of the head."

The Ex-Imperial Court.

The London Court Journal says: "The Emperor Napoleon's life at Chiselhurst is thus described by one who has the privilege of becoming acquainted with the social doings there: 'During the forenoon all is silent in the mansion. The Empress after prayers, breakfasts with the Prince Imperial, who then walks out in the park for a short time, the rule of resuming his studies in the morning being broken through during the indisposition of the Emperor, to whom the society of his son is the chief solace of his exile. The Prince remains with his father during the whole process of the toilet, then assists at his late breakfast, which, contrary to the custom of the Tuilleries is taken alone. During this time the conversation between father and son is maintained with interest and affection. The boy has cheered and soothed the bodily pain and mental agony of the Emperor, who is sometimes seen to smile as the former accounts his experiences of England and the English, and offers judgment according to his lights concerning the habits of French boys as compared with those of England. When the Emperor leaves his own apartment, the Prince Imperial repairs to his studies. But his Majesty declares that already the glory of the day is over, although he feels the necessity of the separation for awhile. The morning's report of the state of Paris is still furnished by Pietri, but is never once alluded to. Even the Empress herself, never dare to venture an opinion on the subject. She has her own reporters, and is always prepared for the event before it happens. What has struck the friends of the Imperial family most of all is the comparative solitude in which each of its members seeks to live. There is something touching in the solitary walk taken by the Emperor up and down the avenue leaning on his cane and stopping every now and then to remove the pebbles from his path, according to the habit of all men engaged in deep thought. His Majesty has grown much fatter since his arrival at Chiselhurst. But he walks with far more ease than on his first arrival in England, and now only requires the arm of a friend to help him up the steps of the hall door of the mansion. A charming anecdote, worthy of the ancient days of chivalry, is being whispered about among the higher circles in London. It seems that one of our young Catholic heroes of high life, always a great admirer of the Empress Eugenie, paid a visit to Chiselhurst last week, previous to his departure for Paris. "What can I bring your Majesty from Babylon?"—the name by which the doomed city is always designated now by the Ultramontane party—said the young nobleman, as he bent low over Her Majesty's fair hand. "Nothing," replied the Empress sadly; then suddenly correcting her speech, said, quietly, "Yes, there is one thing I should love. Bring me a rose from the garden of the Tuilleries;' The young man promised to execute this apparently easy commission, and departed in silence. On Friday he re-appeared at Chiselhurst with a case of purple morrocco in his hand, which he reverently presented on his bended knee to the Empress. It was the Golden Rose, gift of the Pope to Her Majesty, that he has brought "from the Tuilleries." How he had obtained it, or through what long course of adventure he had traced it to the party willing to part with it will never be known, nor yet at what sacrifice it was obtained. But great was the joy of the illustrious lady on beholding it, and pardonable the feeling which induces her to hope that it will bring a blessing to last to her house and stay the wrath of heaven. It had always formed a part of the altar of decoration of the Chapel at the Tuileries.

Ten drops of nitro-glycerine recently exploded, in a very disagreeable manner, in the laboratory of a German chemist. One of the students poured this quantity into a small iron saucepan, and heated it over one of the peculiar gas jets used by chemists and physicists, and called the Bunsen burner. The Chemical News says that forty-six panes of glass of the laboratory windows were broken to atoms, the saucepan was hurled through a brick wall, but, strangely enough, no one of the three persons present was injured. It has been found that nitro-glycerine, when dropped on a bright red-hot iron plate, burns away like gunpowder, but if the iron is not heated to redness, the nitro-glycerine is caused to boil, and explodes with great violence.

Tiger Hunting.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "There is a fascination in the sport of tiger-hunting, which is not to be wondered at when all the circumstances of the chase are considered. In the first place, if the sportsman does not succeed in finding a tiger, there is a probability he will light upon some other wild beast equally disagreeable, whom it will be both a pleasure and a duty to destroy. In the second place, if the sportsman does not kill the tiger he will almost infallibly be killed himself, or, at all events be so much mauled about as to gain considerable glory.

A correspondent of the Times of India, dating from Baroda on the 9th ultimo, gives an account of a most pleasing day's sport lately enjoyed by Captain Westmacott and Mr. Little, the executive engineer P. W., department, Kaira. Intelligence having been received that a man-eating tiger was prowling about the jungle near Powaghur Hill, who was said to have killed six men and a boy, those gentlemen started in pursuit of the animal, nor were they unsuccessful, for they found the object of their search (which turned out to be a large panther) near a village called Jowara. They fired at him and he fell dead, at least so they imagined, but in spite of his deadness no sooner did they approach him than he suddenly made a spring at Captain Westmacott, and bit him severely about the hand and wrist. Making a second bite, the panther seized the gallant officer by the forearm, and declined to relinquish his hold. An exciting scene ensued: Captain Westmacott, with with the arm that was at liberty, kept 'punching' the panther about the head to make him let go, while Mr. Little, taking the brute by both ears, shook him violently until he unclosed his teeth, when he was hurled on one side and dispatched. News of the accident reaching Baroda, a palankeen was sent out, in which Captain Westmacott was conveyed home. His arm was much swollen, but according to latest accounts there was every expectation of a speedy recovery.

It is really marvelous how people can sit calmly in a punt and bob for gudgeons when by a journey to India—no difficult task in these days of rapid locomotion—they might enjoy a stroll through a jungle, and possibly have the pleasure of punching a panther's head.

Whence came the fleas? or using the language of the Evolutionists, through what chain of being can we trace the flea to its origin? Some trace the descent of fleas from a remote and very unsavory origin, but we will rest content with a more romantic legend.

Amongst the Kurds, a tradition is preserved that when Noah's ark sprang a leak, by striking against a rock in the vicinity of Mount Sindshar, and Noah despairing altogether of safety, the serpent promised to help him out of his mishap if he would engage to feed him upon human flesh after the deluge had subsided. Noah pledged himself to do so; and the serpent, coiling himself up, drove his body into the fracture and stopped the leak. When the pluvious element was appeased, and all were making their way out of the ark the serpent insisted upon the fulfillment of the pledge he had received: but Noah, by Gabriel's advice, committed the serpent to the flames, and scattering its ashes in the air, there arose out of them fleas, flies, lice, bugs, and all such sort of vermin as prey upon human blood; and after this fashion was Noah's pledge redeemed.—From Science Gossip.
